Skinny Skribbles

Around And About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

Maybe I should have a retail schedule. I try to get into one store at 7 o'clock, and I don't. Another at 8 and it will be open at 8:30. Not easily discouraged I try another which opens at 9. If you wait long enough you can get into all of them. There isn't any uniformity of "when to get in."

Walt Gerkin is home from an automobile vacation trip. Talked to him when he started north. At that time he contemplated a night trip through Bakersfield and the valley, but the rest of the family didn't know it. Maybe that's one of the reasons why I haven't been able to get from him the details of the trip.

And then there was the fellow who thought it would be an economic stroke to use adhesive tape to hold up his stockings, instead of using garters. His legs were too slender to wear those recessions which go just a little above your ankle.

May have been adjustable sign. Fellow had "just one left," but it was appropriate for any business. That was his story, and who am I to change it?

James Rolph III wants to be lieutenant-governor. His illustrious father left the lieutenant off, and went directly into the executive mansion. James III made a political call in company with Curtis Jordon, of Long Beach, formerly of Santa Ana. It wasn't difficult for him to get a broad introduction in this city with the Jordon background. Curtis knows most of the old-timers and more of the politicians. The younger Rolph's physiognomy has been placed in the column's gallery, which now contains forty-one names, not including the contribution by Milan Miller, who insists that I should be a candidate for something.

Bert Casteix is building a house. Thinks he will move into it. If you want the place more than he does you move in. Bert must have read somewhere long ago about foundations and the warning not to put one on the sand. He has a strong anchor, reinforced steel. Figured out no use to put an expensive superstructure on a shifting foundation. Guess I'll go down some evening and give it the weight test.

Group tried to take me to "Alexander's Rag Time Band." I escaped on the ground that at one time I had been a member of a band and "blew" the snare drum. There wasn't much music in it, but you could get a lot of noise out of it.

The vicissitudes of investments are no respecter of persons. The affluent of yesterday are the dejected, defeated czars of today. A case in point was locally divulged recently when a former employer of a Santa Ana man disclosed the necessities of life and was assisted by the man who was formerly in his employ. Money is transient. You have it today and tomorrow some one else has it. In spite of all the precaution and research you can make, your investment and conditions over which you have no control, and entirely unexpected, turn the current toward the other man's safety deposit box, and the bonds and stocks which were once yours have changed ownership.

When you are not looking for a fellow, you can find him. When you want him he isn't to be located. And then again he suddenly appears when you want him but are not looking for him. That's when "Stormy" Gordon delivered a message to me which has been received and placed on file. My best advice is when you are looking for some one stand at a prominent corner, and the party you are looking for will pass by.

Won't be long now before the schools will recall the children. The recall will have no political significance. Just an educational progression.

About all the news today was political, local, state, national. My limitations politically are to give candidates a place in the "house" gallery. Farther than that it isn't advisable, and my opinion would not settle anything, anyway.

The Tournament of Lights event takes places this evening at Newport Harbor. It has been a steadily increasing attraction for many years. Since the harbor development it has grown to almost capacity performance. You can get in to see the parade at 7:30, but there isn't any telling when

Heiress, Shot In Hollywood Street Battles For Life

Improvement After Transfusions Creates Hope She Will Live

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Physicians expressed hope today for the recovery of Mrs. Emita Jewett Krueger, wealthy member of the McCormick harvester family and wife of Karl Krueger, Kansas City symphony orchestra conductor—victim of a spectacular shooting on Hollywood boulevard late yesterday.

The woman was shot down by Charles E. McDonald, 30-year-old estranged husband of Mrs. Krueger's maid. In a confession given to police when he surrendered, the electrician accused the former Chicago society girl of breaking up his home.

Hospital authorities said the victim, suffering from a bullet wound in the side and another in the leg, showed marked improvement after a second blood transfusion and expressed the belief she will recover.

Recovering sufficiently to discuss the circumstances that led up to the shooting, Mrs. Krueger accused her assailant of being a troublemaker for several years.

"I feared McDonald would hurt out daughter Theresa after he followed her home from school one day," she told authorities from her hospital bed.

In the county jail, McDonald said he followed the girl only to learn where his wife, against whom he had filed divorce proceedings, could be located.

SHOOTING CONFESSED

"McDonald has been a source of trouble for several years," the orchestra leader said in corroboration. "Mrs. McDonald left our employ several times, but always came back saying she needed the work to support herself and her daughter."

Detective Lieut. George Whaley announced that McDonald confessed he fired the two shots as she ran for the safety of a dancing studio where her daughter was awaiting her.

"Mrs. Krueger broke up my home," Lieut. Whaley quoted McDonald as saying, after admitting that he had followed her from her home in his car.

McDONALD SURRENDERS

"She pulled up at the curb and I drew alongside of her. I asked her 'where are my wife and baby?'

"She got out of the car and said she was going to call police. I pulled out the gun and fired. That's all I remember."

A short time later, his attorney, William Brontsen, notified police that McDonald was willing to surrender. McDonald told officers that he had driven to the office of Brontsen, who recently represented him in his wife's divorce action, after the shooting, taking with him an automatic pistol which he handed to Lieut. Whaley.

"I've been having trouble for three years with my wife because of Mrs. Krueger's influence over her," Whaley said McDonald told him.

"I prevailed upon my wife a year ago to quit Mrs. Krueger's employment. I could tell from her indifference to me after our baby was born, 23 months ago, that there was something alienating my wife from me.

"I felt that was her association with Mrs. Krueger."

STILL RAIDED IN PLACENTIA; TWO ARRESTED

Raiding a home on East Orangethorpe avenue last night, state board of equalization men, Placentia police and officers from the sheriff's and district attorney's offices last night broke up an alleged bootlegging establishment and made two arrests.

Booked in the county jail last night on misdemeanor charges of possessing liquor without an excise tax stamp was Jose M. Hernandez, 32, laborer.

Arrested this morning on felony charges of operating a still was Mrs. Tomasina Negrete, 35, owner of the house.

Officers said they found 17 or 18 gallons of alcohol in Hernandez' bedroom; and then located a 50-gallon case and still coils in an outbuilding. They destroyed 150 gallons of mash, found in a specially-constructed cellar near a hog pen.

In Hernandez' possession officers said they found three liquor bottles which had been refilled.

Taking part in the raid, ordered by William G. Bonelli, state board of equalization man for this district, were Liquor Control Officer Herman Pause, Police Chief Gus Barnes of Placentia, Deputy Sheriffs D. B. Dunbar and Steve Duhart, and Deputy Dist. Atty. Warren Schutz. Schutz issued complaints against Mrs. Negrete and Hernandez today, to be filed in Fullerton justice court.

EMIL GEOPPER, PIONEER, DIES

Born in Ohio in 1866, Mr. Geopper moved to California with his family in 1870, later settling in Santa Ana in 1876. He attended Santa Ana schools as a boy, and moved to Balboa in 1924, where he made his home at 111 East Bay avenue for the past years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Margaret Goepper of Balboa, a sister, Mrs. Bell Buck, of Fullerton, and a brother, Jules Goepper, of North Main street, Santa Ana.

Christian Science services will be held 2 p. m. Monday at Winbligler's Memorial chapel, followed by private cremation at Fairhaven cemetery.

Babs and Count Go Swimming

VENICE. (AP) — Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow and his wife, the former Barbara Hutton, went swimming together today at the Lido, with no apparent signs that bitterness had lingered from the court battle six weeks ago that ended in their legal separation.

The count, after postponing his departure from Venice a second time, joined his wife on the beach. Both were accompanied by friends and, after swimming, all went to a bar.

Run Out The Reds, AFL Urge

A statement disclaiming responsibility for strike conditions among Mexican agricultural workers was released by the central labor council, following a conference among A. F. of L. officials this morning.

The statement follows:

"The best interest of the farmers of Orange county, as well as all others including the American workers, demand that Communist and radical agitators be run out of the United States, and particularly Orange county.

UNITED FIGHT ON REDS

"The A. F. of L. was the first national organization to take a definite stand against Communism and radical foreign element. This stand has been followed by the American Legion, Knights of Columbus, Masons, Elks and other organizations, who are now fighting hand in hand to keep radicalism, Communism, Fascism and Nazism out of America.

"It is not fair to the farmer or the consuming public to have labor disputes arise at the time crops are ready to be harvested. The farmer suffers an unfair loss and the needy people are deprived of necessities, or, are required to pay excessive prices, due to shortage caused by the labor troubles.

"Why not the agriculture workers get together with the farmers and work for what is equitable to all?

"The labor trouble existing in the Japanese vegetable fields at the present time could have been avoidd.

NOT U. S. UNION

"The agriculture interest that signed an agreement with the Cucum last year to furnish Mexican farm labor, made a serious mistake. First, the Cucum is not an American labor organization, nor were there very many American citizens in the Cucum. How can the farmers trull say that they are for America when they prefer to hire a foreign and Communistic element to do their work? Or, are the farmers of Orange county being misled by certain parties?

"The agriculture committee representing the Orange County Central Labor council of the A. F. of L. was invited by Mr. Socokie, who is the head of the Japanese Produce Grower association, to attend a meeting of theirs, to discuss the existing labor problem.

A. F. L. BARRED

"The committee from the Central Labor council accepted the invitation and went out to Talbert the night of Aug. 5, to find a man there that was received by the Japanese very graciously; and after he talked to Mr. Socokie for a very brief time, Mr. Socokie informed the A. F. of L. agriculture committee that their meeting was not open to them and that they would not discuss the problem with them. Though, if they would sign an agreement with him to furnish all the labor they wanted and could use; at 25c per hour, they would allow them in the meeting.

"After the above conversation

FRANCO OPENS GENERAL DRIVE

HENDAYE, France (At the Spanish Frontier.) (AP) — Spanish insurgent dispatches said today that 5000 government militiamen were captured and additional thousands killed as Generalissimo Francisco Franco opened what apparently was a carefully planned general offensive.

The insurgents attacked in force on the Ebro river front, south of Gandesa, where they reported the first line of government trenches in the Pandos mountains had been occupied and the second line was being attacked today.

U. S. TO BUY RUTTER

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The agriculture department announced approval today of additional loans up to $7,250,000 to the dairy products marketing association for buying up to 25,000,000 pounds of butter to help stabilize dairy prices.

Tournament Of Lights To Draw Many

NEWPORT-BALBOA. — More than 100,000 spectators will be attracted here tonight for the annual Tournament of Lights, spectacular water parade, beginning at 7:30 o'clock from the Balboa Island ferry landing.

Civic floats, yachts and sailboats will parade to the music of several bands over a five-mile route, touching nearly every point on the bay.

The long line of brilliantly-lighted floats will be led by a stately barge, depicting an enchanted forest and carrying Miss Maurice Shipp of Long Beach as Snow White, queen of the parade.

The boats will touch Balboa Island, Lido Isle and Harbor Island before swinging across the channel to the Newport-Balboa peninsula. From there, they will follow the peninsula almost to Corona del Mar before turning back to Balboa Island.

DUCE, CHURCH END FRICTION

ROME. (AP)—The Fascist party today announced an agreement ending the recently growing friction between Fascism and Catholic action, lay organization of the Catholic church.

The Fascist party bulletin said that at a conference between Achille Starace, Fascist party secretary, and Marquess Lamberto Vignoli, president of the Italian Catholic action's central office, an agreement had been reached "to conform to the accords reached in 1931."

The 1931 accords ended an earlier dispute between Fascism and Catholic action. The settlement that year permitted Catholic action to function in Italy but limited its scope to purely religious and spiritual matters.

Catholic action has been under attack recently by a part of the Fascist press.

LABOR LAW TO BE CHANGED

HYDE PARK, N. Y. (AP)— President William Green of the American Federation of Labor said today that he and President Roosevelt "are in accord on the necessity of making some changes" in the national labor relations law.

The labor official conferred with Mr. Roosevelt at the latter's home here today.

Green did not detail what changes in the law might be effected, but said that in broad outline they either might curtail the board's present powers or clarify its duties.

"We discussed possible changes in the law thoroughly," Green said. "We are in accord on the necessity of making some changes in the law to overcome the objections we (the A. F. of L.) have offered regarding the board's administration."

Jews in Austria Are Denied Sugar

BERLIN. (AP)—By order of the commissioner in charge of the sugar industry in German Austria, Jewish firms dealing in sugar and "using sugar in their establishments for manufacturing purposes" will not be supplied with it after Aug. 25.

Any Jewish-owned automobile in Berlin now can be spotted as such because Jews only are issued those license numbers above 355,000.

Menton Quits Fee Suit

Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton today formally walked out of the board of supervisors' $100,000 fee suit against Sheriff Logan Jackson.

Menton served on Willard Smith, chairman of the board, and County Clerk B. J. Smith notice of a motion for a court order permitting his withdrawal from the second "fee case" filed this week by Edgar B. Hervey, San Diego attorney, engaged by the supervisors.

CASE MAY COLLAPSE

If his motion is granted, legal authorities said, the case may collapse, since Hervey was engaged only as a "special assistant to the district attorney," and may be able to take no action if the district attorney is not attorney of record in the suit.

Menton's motion stated as grounds that he was not consulted with reference to filing of the $100,000 suit although he legally is given power to direct and control the county's court actions; that the use of his name on the complaint filed by Hervey was not authorized; and that he believes Hervey instituted the suit without any authority whatsoever.

IN COURT FRIDAY

An affidavit accompanying the notice on motion states that Menton believes Hervey had no authority from the board to file the second suit for $100,000 after a former action for $75,000 had been dismissed; that the action was "improperly filed and is an attempt to bind affiant as counsel without affiant's consent or approval."

Menton's motion will be heard in superior court next Friday.

"I feel this is my duty," said Menton as he filed the notice, to protect my office and the county—and the board of supervisors—to that extent from any ill-advised actions. I have been ready at all times to file an appropriate action to determine the validity of this ordinance. I still am ready to do so."

WEBB MIGHT ACT

If Menton is allowed to withdraw from the case, some legal authorities said, the board's suit will collapse unless supervisors can prevail on Atty. Gen. U. S. Webb, who is the only official with that power, to appoint special counsel. Hervey can be engaged by the board only as "special assistant to the district attorney," they said.

Supervisors hired Hervey to bring the action more than six months ago after they passed the controversial salary ordinance, which was drawn to take from Jackson and four other officials fees which they formerly kept under state law.

Tax Money Used For Communists' Spread, Charge

Sees Red Stage

Pausing to light a cigaret, Mrs. Hazel Huffman, representing a committee of theatrical workers on relief, is shown as she told the house committee investigating un-American activities that WPA's Federal Theater project was being used to spread Communistic propaganda in New York.

JAPS STOPPED ON ALL FRONTS

SHANGHAI. (AP) — Chinese declared today their forces had checkmated the Japanese on all fronts.

The Japanese said a new large scale drive against Chinese guerrillas in Shantung province already had scattered 10,000 irregulars near Tsinan, Shantung provincial capital.

But the Chinese insisted the 42,000 fight-and-run warriors in Shantung still were active and that campaigns in other areas were "continuing to be successful." Guerrillas were said to have driven within 25 miles of Nanking.

West of Kiukiang, the Yangtze river port used as a base for the campaign against Hankow, 135 miles upstream, the Chinese claimed to have won a smashing victory when a detachment of Japanese, being landed from warships, was routed after leaving the protection of the invaders' naval guns.

Only Members of Alliance Gets Jobs, Probers Informed

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, a Methodist bishop, the president of Vassar college and others were named today before a house committee as being "exploited" by the Communist party of America.

J. B. Matthews, educator and writer, who said he had been associated with or organized mroe than 20 organizations in "the Communist front," told the committee investigating un-American activities that the American Youth congress, now entertaining the World Youth congress at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., was in reality a Communist front organization sponsored by many leading Americans.

He said that 35 of the 50 American delegates to the congress were Communists or "Communist travelers" who he declared were persons who for strategy reasonus did not hold Communist party cards but worked actively for Communist aims.

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Frank M. Ferdi, playwright and actor, charged before a house committee today that non-professional actor sand actresses favored, by the Workers' Alliance had displaced professionals fired without cause from the federal theater project.

Verdi charged—as some other witnesses before the committee investigating un-American activities have done—that the Workers Alliance, formed to aid people on relief, was using taxpayers' money to spread Communism.

INQUIRY STOPPED

The playwright-actor said he spent several months last year investigating qualifications of actors in the WPA theater project but the inquiry was stopped by project officials within a week or its completion.

He said he found at least 125 actors and actresses on the project who had no professional background whatever and another 100 whose qualifications were "very doubtful."

Verdi charged that project officials gagged his investigation because it reflected on the Workers Alliance.

MEMBERSHIP REQUIRED

He said there was noe project director who he accused of favoring Workers Aliance members.

"Certainly I have and what are you going to do about it," Verdi said the director replied.

Charles Walton, WPA play director, testified "it was a known fact in New York that the way to get ahead in New York federal theater projects was through the Workers Alliance."

Walton said he "wouldn't have a Communist on the lot—I regard them as trouble makers," but that he was reprimanded for that attitude.

PAID AS THEY MARCH

A third witness, Garland Kerr, actor and stage manager of New York, who became a federal theater project company director, said workers in one New York theater were paid by government funds while marching in a May day "Communist" parade there in 1936.

"They brought their signs to the theater and then went to the parade, doing no work at all that day," Kerr said.

He said Communists were active in the theater project in holding labor meetings on government time and property.

REDS IN COLLEGE

The neatly dressed actor who came to the theater from amateur theatricals in Pittsburgh told the committee "Communist" literature was given away or sold on theater projects and that "strike funds" were openly solicited there.

The investigating committee announced earlier it would produce evidence that Communism "permeates" some eastern colleges and universities.

Chairman Dies (D., Tex.) said three of the prospective witnesses were teachers, and added that they "will demonstrate how prevalent communism is in these schools, and it's plenty."

The witnesses will be brought before the committee next week by Rep. Thomas (R., N. J.), who investigated subversive activities, particularly in New York City, before hearings began a week ago.

Criticism of evidence the committee heard in earlier sessions came, meanwhile, from the Committee for Industrial Orangization and Harry Bridges, western director for the C. I. O.

The C. I. O. News termed the appearance of John P. Frey, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, a "farcical performance" inspiring nothing more than a "large and hearty yawn."

Hughes Hangs Up Another Record When He Flies L. A. To N. Y. In 10½ Hours

NEW YORK. (AP) — Howard Hughes, round the world and transcontinental record holder, hung up another record today but it was only incidental to a research flight.

Winging nonstop from Los Angeles to New York to test a new type of oxygen mask for high altitude flight, Hughes, in his 'round-the-world transport type plane, crossed the continent in 10 hours 34 minutes, beating the best previous transport record by almost 30 minutes. He flew at an average altitude of 20,000 feet.

In January, 1937, however, he crossed the continent in 7 hours 28 minutes and 25 seconds in a special racing plane.

D. W. Tomlinson, another research flier, held the previous transcontinental record for transport type planes.

Landing at Floyd Bennett airport at 7:56 a. m., (EST) Hughes and three companions said the new type oxygen mask held great possibilities for future flight at extremely high altitudes.

"Ultimately," Hughes said, "transport operations will be conducted at altitudes of around 30,000 feet. Our present equipment and engines will not permit regular flight at that height. The point I want to make is this: That as an airplane leaves sea level the man at the controls becomes less efficient.

"A good oxygen mask, permitting the pilot of the transport to breathe oxygen and air of the same density as that at sea level is going to do much toward making high altitude flying easy and efficient."

He explained that passengers in high altitude transports would not be expected to wear masks but would obtain added oxygen by direct injection of the gas into the cabin of the transport plane.

In the mask he tested, oxygen was mixed with air before it was inhaled.

Hughes' average speed with hardly any following wind, was 238 miles per hour.

SEWER REPAIR COST PROBLEM OF COUNCIL

Alteration of Santa Ana's 1938-39 city budget, providing a rise in the city water rate instead of a 21-cent tax rate increase, was under consideration by city councilmen today as the date for final adoption of the budget drew near.

With the budget ordinance already having received first reading, the council was contemplating a special meeting early next week to consider a plan to boost the minimum water rate to $1.25 and reduce the minimum consumption to 800 cubic feet.

The change would make it possible to leave the tax rate at the $1.59 figure in effect during the past year, it was understood, instead of raising the regular rate to $1.80.

A majority of city councilmen were believed in favor of the change, which in effect would shift the burden of $50,000 expense in repairs to the outfall sewer from property owners, to water-users, who, the council argues, are the real beneficiaries of the sewer reconstruction.

The plan was brought into the open at the Santa Ana realty board meeting yesterday, after realtors had questioned Councilman Ernest Layton on possibilities of trimming the city budget or otherwise cutting the tax rate back to last year's figure.

Under the plan to raise the water rate, it was understood the council would draft an ordinance calling for automatic reduction of the rate to the present figure at the end of a year, thus making the rate raise an emergency measure barely raising funds needed on the sewer project.

Final reading of the budget ordinance was scheduled for Aug. 29, and final decision on the water rate proposal must be made by that time.

Consensus of the council today appeared favorable to the shift in the tax burden, on the presumption that the water rate increase would divide the sewer cost more equitably among sewer users.

A water rate minimum of $1.25, the proposed rate would bring Santa Ana's water charge up to approximately an average figure for the entire state, it was pointed out. The city now is far under average in its water charges.

Blast Damages Bank Building

An early morning blast, caused by dynamite, wrecked the interior of the Bank of America building at Mountain View, Calif.

BANK BLAST LAID TO MAN WHO LOST SUIT

SAN JOSE, Calif., (AP)—Dynamiting of a bank at nearby Mountain View was attributed by Sheriff George W. Lyle today to four years of increasing resentment by Lorenzo Cerruti over a mortgage foreclosure.

Lyle said Cerruti, 50-year-old Milpitas ranch worker, admitted he discharged ten sticks of dynamite against the side door of the Bank of America early yesterday. The blast caused damage estimated at $o3,000 by bank officials.

Wilbur Camp, bank manager, said the bank foreclosed four years ago on Cerruti's two houses and three acres of land at Mountain View.

Cerruti was quoted by Sheriff Lyle as saying:

"I just couldn't stop thinking about it. My wife died after we lost our place and our savings were wiped out and ever since I've had a lump in my stomach.

Denied Cabin on Crowded Steamer, Man Jumps in Sea and Starts Swimming Ashore

NEW YORK. (AP)—Joe Charlton wanted the master of the Providence-bound liner Comet to turn the boat around when he learned all the cabins were taken and he and his wife would have to spend the night in deck chairs.

Charlton removed his hat, coat and shoes as the vessel was passing through Hell Gate channel.

"You can't go ahore now," a ship's officer remarked, musingly.

"The hell I can't," answered Charlton, taking a squint at the Hell Gate channel. He ran to the rail, shouting, "Come on Claire," and over he went. Mrs. Charlton started to follow but was held back by sailors.

Charlton was swimming briskly under the triborough bridge when he got a lift from a passing motorboat.

The captain of the Comet, a little confused by all this, ordered the Comet pulled up at North Brother island where he left Mrs. Charlton off.

Charlton, 31, a petroleum engineer from San Marcos, Cal., was landed from the motor boat at Ninetieth street. Mrs. Charlton was taken to Ninetieth street and deposited alongside her husband. They returned to their hotel room feeling fine.

'STRIKE' NOT VISIBLE TO ANY EXTENT

The Orange county agricultural workers' "strike" situation slowed down to a walk today. Principal developments were:

1. The Federation of Mexican Agricultural Workers, although their week-long strike still technically is in effect, are expected to go back to work next week, with a total of around 750 tomato pickers in the fields Monday.

2. The Committee for Industrial Organization, which has affiliated an estimated 200 workers, has claimed to have called a county-wide strike, but the so-called strike has neither been recognized nor officially declared to the state employment office.

3. No picking activity is under way today, partly because the federation strike is still in effect, partly because of a CIO walkout effecting approximately 200 workers and partly because there is a normal week-end and between-crop lull in field activities.

4. The so-called strike of green lima pickers at the Irvine ranch apparently was little more than an "entering wedge" that may or may not be a foreboding of trouble in the ripe lima and chili harvest that starts next week and the beet picking that gets under way in mid-September.

5. CIO activities, led by Pat Calahan, president of district 2, United Cannery, Agricultural, Packing and Allied Workers of America, and Dorothy Ray, organizer for the group — were concerned largely with organization today, with a meeting of Mexican laborers scheduled for 5 p. m. in the Delhi community hall tonight. Small groups of workers were holding preliminary "huddles" all morning, and a dozen cars, carrying approximately 50 workers with CIO armbands, paraded up and down the Fourth and Artesia street district this morning.

6. The American Federation of Labor drafted a statement disclaiming responsibility for the present strike.

7. CIO organizers indicated they would discourage workers from accepting 25-cent hourly wages from Japanese vegetable growers, indicating the tomato pickers' strike may break out anew next week.

8. An excited call to the sheriff's office that the strike had spread to citrus pickers was found to be without foundation.

Ranchers in the Irvine district today said the "strike" of green lima pickers was "ridiculous."

One hundred fifty men and women had been at work in 50 acres being farmed experimentally by W. Brad Hellis and E. E. Cox, it was understood, and most of them walked out at noon Thursday.

with Socokie, this certain man that purports himself to be looking after the interest of the Orange county farmers, made the statement that his interest in the matter is to see that crops are gathered when they are mature and that he is going to see that they are harvested.

OFFER TO NEGOTIATE

"Is that an American way of doing business?

"The A. F. of L. agriculture committee offered to negotiate an equitable labor contract, and still is ready to do so. But when the employer allows some individual to choose a non-American labor organization to furnish them labor, trouble of the kind we have today must be expected.

"Employers in Orange county who do not want labor trouble, have entered into contracts with the A. F. of L. unions. The subcontractors for the Prado dam have agreed that all labor will be A. F. of L. union labor.

INVITATION OPEN

"The A. F. of L. unions do not tolerate Communism or radicalism. When such influences get in to the A. F. of L. they are expelled as rapidly as found.

"The present agriculture labor trouble is due to the failure of the farmers to meet as they have been invited—and as they are still invited to meet with the A. F. of L. unions and work out a fair and equitable agreement for all concerned. Why do those who pretend to represent the farmers choose the Communistic and radical element to try and do business with, or, do they know that trouble and turmoil will be the results?

"Looks awful suspicious . . ."

$14,400 BRONZE CAT whose purchase recently by St. Louis museum provoked a flood of "letters to the editor" and attacks by various groups which cited the "desperate plight of city's relief needs," has been called by museum officials "the most important object of its kind in America." The dull metal tabby is believed to date back 2,400 years.

DELAY RUMOR ANSWERED BY ARMY'S ACTION

Bids on the $7,000,000 Prado dam in Santa Ana canyon, main link in Orange county's $15,248,000 flood control program, were advertised today for Sept. 19.

Notice inviting bids were contained in the new issue of Southwest Contractor and Builder, trade publication, issued today.

OPEN BIDS SEPT 19

Bids will be opened Sept. 19 in the offices of Maj. Theodore Wyman, jr., U. S. army engineer for Southern California. Date of letting the contract was not specified, but work on the project is expected to begin by Oct. 1.

The 100-foot earth fill dam has as its primary purpose control of high waters of the Santa Ana river; but it will also serve as a water conservation basin, creating a lake several miles long and holding the water long enough so it may filter into Orange county's underground basin, its supply depleted by pumping.

2350-FOOT CREST

The dam will be 30 feet wide at the top for a roadway. The crest, 2350 feet wide, will reach an elevation of 561 feet above the sea level. The upstream slope will be surfaced with rock paving; and the downstream side will contain two shelves to break possible water erosion.

The spillway channel will be 1000 feet wide at the 536-foot level, tapering to 600 feet at an elevation of 460 feet above the sea level. Lined with concrete, the spillway will be able to carry 190,000 second feet of water.

Today's advertising for bids again set at rest irresponsible rumors which have been circulated here, to the effect that construction on the dam cannot start for another year.

ARMY'S JOB

One such report today said that the dam money, made available by the federal government, had not yet been turned over to the county by State Finance Director Arlin E. Stockburger. The report quoted Congressman Harry Sheppard.

Funds for the dam building are being spent by the U. S. army engineers and the state government has nothing to do with the project. The county's only part in the dam building is to purchase easements, property and rights-of-way, and to move out of the contractor's way the Santa Fe railroad tracks and Santa Ana canyon highway near the damsite.

Money for this year's construction on the dam has been available for some time; and work will be able to start the minute contracts are let.

PENSION GROUP MEETS SUNDAY

Old age pension advocates will gather in Fairmount park, Riverside, 1:30 p. m. tomorrow for a "common front" meeting, emphasizing the idea that the various pension groups should work in harmony to the greatest possible extent.

Judge Patterson of the Kentucky Supreme court will explain the state pension proposal, known as the $30 per week plan. Herbert F. Kenny will explain the General Welfare act, the national pension proposal.

Congressman Harry R. Sheppard will speak on the common front idea after Harold P. Thoreson has given an outline of the development of cooperative attitudes toward pension legislation in Washington, D. C. The public is invited.

PARTY HONORS SUMMER VISITOR HERE

An abundance of zinnias' stalk and daisies transformed the home of Mrs. Kenneth Price, 1113 South Flower street, into a bower of bloom Friday when she entertained a group of close friends at luncheon and bridge, in compliment to Mrs. Edward Adams (Clara Kate Owens) who is spending the summer here from Salinas. Mr. and Mrs. Adams and tiny daughter, Claudia Ruth, will return to their home in a week's time.

Luncheon was served at one large and smaller tables which were centered with white pottery figurines surrounded by rings of petunias. Following the appetizing fare, tallies were distributed for contract. First prize was won by Mrs. Clarence Ranney, who received a bottle of cologne, while Mrs. G. Stanley Norton received printed linen towels for second high.

Invited with the hostess, Mrs. Price, the honored guests, Mrs. Adams, and the prize winners, Mrs. Ranney and Mrs. Norton, were Mesdames Crawford Nalle, William Jerome, jr., Joseph Irwin, Don Plumb, Ernest Stump, and Miss Loretta Spangler.

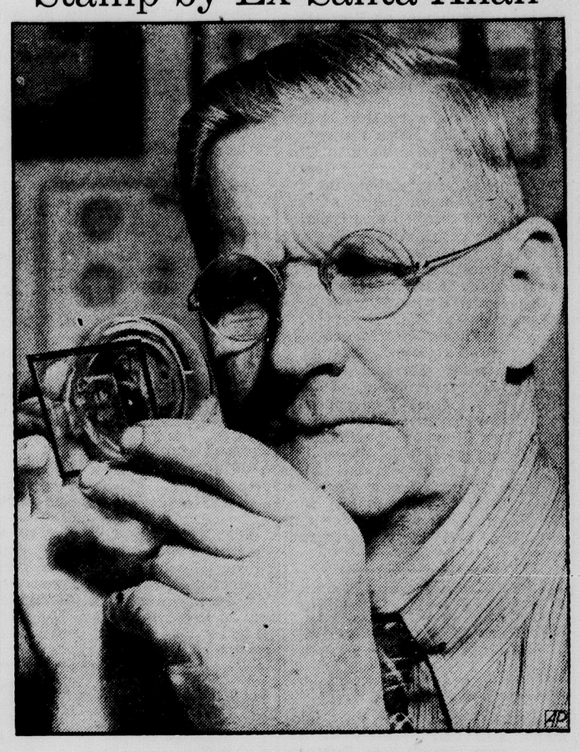
Expert Discredits Value of Stamp by Ex-Santa Anan



Warren R. Dubois Looking Over His Stamp Find

Warren R. Dubois, former Santa Ana furniture dealer, says he found a stamp worth $50,000.

"Phooey!" exclaimed an expert today.

Dubois got wide publicity when two major news photo services carried his picture last week. He said he discovered the stamp, a 1-cent issue bearing a Baltimore first-day cancellation of Aug. 17, 1861, in a collection he bought for $300.

His claim was "called" today by a prominent Los Angeles philatelist.

"The stamp," said W. C. Lilley, member of the American Philatelic society, the Collectors club of New York and the Washington State Philatelic society, director of the Los Angeles Philatelic club and a member of the jury of selection for several exhibitions, "is worth about $1 in finest cancelled condition."

Dubois now lives in Los Angeles, and his announcement that the 1-cent was worth $50,000 brought a flood of inquiries to stamp experts all over the country.

Lilley, who made the statement is associated with B. W. H. Poole, one of the world's most prominent stamp experts. Lilley's statement to The Journal follows:

"The stamp described in the articles is the ordinary stamp of 1861—the stamp in finest cancelled condition is worth about $1. This copy which has an early cancellation date, would probably bring from a specialist who would appreciate it, about $10.

"Mr. Tudor Gross of New York, who is such a specialist, bought from a dealer in a regular way the early-dated cover he has, which bears three of these stamps for around $10.

"This kind of publicity is very harmful to the hobby in general, as is all such misinformation, and should be exposed at all times. The person who started this story should have investigated the matter, which could easily have been done as many philatelists of renown reside in Southern California, among whom might be mentioned B. W. H. Poole, who is probably the greatest authority in the West.

"Mr. Poole is one of only six members in America on the roll of "distinguished philatelists of Great Britain." One cannot attain this honor except by election and on account of his philatelic accomplishments.

POPE, BEATEN, MAY TRY AGAIN

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Senator Pope (D., Ida.), whose defeat in the recent Idaho Democratic primary was a major setback and surprise for the administration, said today he was considering entering the November election as an independent candidate.

The Idaho senator, an ardent supporter of President Roosevelt's program, declared he had received more than a thousand letters and numerous telegrams and telephone calls urging him to run.

He added in an interview that he probably would make up his mind within the next few weeks after consulting with officials here and Democratic leaders in Idaho.

Since returning home, Pope has talked with Secretary Wallace and other top-ranking administration officials.

Coast Ship Plans Will Be Speeded

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Maritime commission officials said today they expected prompt action on a $100,000,000 rehabilitation program for west coast shipping to follow signing of an "adjustment plan" for the Dollar Steamship Lines, Inc., Ltd., of San Francisco.

The commission announced last April it would sponsor construction of 24 new vessels for the Pacific coast area, but action had been delayed pending completion of negotiations with the Dollar line. An agreement was reached yesterday.

ITALY RENEWS JEWISH DRIVE

ROME. (AP) — Informed Fascist quarters said today a campaign had been begun to oust Jews and Jewish interests from Italian journalism.

Two big newspapers possessing Jewish capital were said to have chanced hands within the past few days. It was reported the Jewish editor of Il Corriere Adriatico had been replaced.

Fascists said a complete "purge" of newspapers probably would follow as part of the party's new race policy, one slogan of which is "no Jews as public servants and one Jew per thousand Italians in national life."

The newspapers reported to have changed hands were Il Giornale D'Italia, of which Virginio Gayda, authorative Fascist spokesman, is editor, and Il Piccolo, published in Trieste.

RACKETEERS IN POLITICS, JURORS TOLD

NEW YORK. (AP)—A picture of Dutch Schultz as a vicious, profane, gun-toting racket boss was left today with the jury in the trial of Tammany district leader, Jimmy Hines.

Still appearing affable after the first week of listening to charges that he served as political guardian angel for Schultz's $100,000,000 policy syndicate, Hines left the courtroom grinning yesterday as the trial was recessed for the week-end.

The last witness of the week, Alexander Pompez, onetime policy king in Harlem, had just testified that the Schultz mobsters contributed thousands of dollars in tainted racket money to election campaigns in 1933.

It was Pompez, now guarded day and night by a squad of four detectives, who said he had felt the lash of the Dutchman's venomous tongue, had seen the tough-talking gang lord draw a murderous gun out of his jacket.

Now 48 years old, prosperously dressed and gray-haired, Pompex entered the numbers business as a banker in 1930 after operating a Harlem cigar store 18 years, he said.

In 1932, he testified, henchmen took him in a bullet-proof car, "heavy as a truck," to see Schultz and the gangster warned him he would be "the first nigger I am going to make an example in Harlem," he capitulated. He reluctantly accepted a proposition that Dutch take over the bank and pay him (Pompex) $250 a week and 40 per cent of the profits.

Youth Goes to Aid Of Boat That Had Rescued Him

CHICAGO. (AP)—Charles Decker, 14, cruising on Lake Michigan last night in his outboard cruiser, saw distress flares.

He found the speedboat, Delaware, with four women and five men aboard her, disabled after striking a log. Making three trips, he brought all a mile and a half to shore.

Two weeks before, Decker's boat had tipped over at nearly the same location. It was the Delaware which came to his assistance.

Two Santa Ana Men Slightly Injured When Plane Lands

Figuring in an unsuccessful forced landing in the fields near the Seal Beach airport when their motor failed, R. M. Sheets and Jack L. Nece, young Santa Ana employes of the Central Petroleum corporation, were being treated for major injuries in a Long Beach hospital today.

The crackup occurred yesterday noon when Nece, a licensed pilot who was on his vacation, and Sheets, his passenger, were heading for San Diego in a cabin monoplane owned by Miss Ruth Tanfield of Hollywood.

After the motor failed, Nece attempted a dead-stick landing at the Seal Beach airport, but winds forced his losing control causing the wreck. Nece, it was understood, rented the plane last week and while flying over Santa Ana was forced down on Eddie Martin's field for minor troubles.

Sheets, who has been employed by the Santa Ana plant since Aug. 1, lives in the Rose Marie apartments, West Center street, Anaheim, and Nece lives at 501 West Whiting, in Fullerton, both being transfers from the Pasadena branch. Sheets was reported to have left the wreck in a dazed condition and last night the extent of his injuries were unknown. Nece suffered compound fractures of both legs and internal injuries.

BOX CAR ROW CLOSES 31 S. F. WAREHOUSES

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP) — CIO unionists complained to the National Labor Relations board today in the "hot cargo" dispute that has closed 31 of the 110 major warehouses in San Francisco and Oakland and which threatened today to tie up additional ones.

Neither employers nor unionists gave ground, and each side issued challenges that pushed them further from a peaceful settlement.

The symbol in the warfare was a box car, partially loaded with children's notebooks, pencils, and other school supplies. Union workers have declined to unload it, contending the cargo was "hot" because it was loaded by asserted "strikebreakers" at the picketed F. W. Woolworth company depot.

Employers said the car was loaded by the Woolworth manager and his assistant. They have claimed that in refusing to handle the load, warehousemen have broken their contract.

The box car, which has caused a tieup at every warehouse where it has appeared, has been shunted all over the San Francisco bay region during the last few days. CIO pickets estimated they had traveled 220 miles following it.

An employers' spokesman said a special, private locomotive was assigned to the car today to speed up its tour of additional warehouses.

Union representatives declared that operators of 19 public warehouses involved in the tieup were named in complaints drawn up ready for presentation to the Labor Relations board. They said these complaints alleged violations of collective bargaining agreements, and demanded full pay for union members while the men were assertedly "locked out."

Metropolitan Water District Tax Will Not Be Changed

I Just Found Out About Orange County

By MILLARD BROWNE

Insurance

Are you a newlywed or a new parent? If so—and if you're working steady, of fair health and good morals—you're an A-1 life insurance prospect, and because of it you could conceivably find 200 insurance salesmen on your front doorstep.

* * *

There are that many insurance agents in the county, and they all are constantly looking for such A-1 prospects as people who've just taken on a new responsibility.

* * *

Insurance men, who can rattle off more statistics than people in any other business (just because insurance is based simply on statistical risk), will figure that you, as a prospect, are worth more than $1 to them, that if they actually get an interview with you it's worth $5, whether or not you sign up.

* * *

That's based on an average of 10 calls a day, which is high for Orange county salesmen. Most agents count on making 40 calls a week, getting 14 interviews, completing one deal.

* * *

Santa Ana's 100 life insurance men represent around 50 companies, either "old line legal reserve" companies which have level premium rates, and can make no assessments, or newer ones authorized to make extra levies on policy-holders if claims run higher than expectations.

* * *

Most insurance men today are specialists, and a good "life" man would know little about casualty, automobile or fire insurance. Life men specialize even more than the other insurance men, many of whom sell everything but life.

* * *

Though all life insurance is based on "ordinary life" where you pay so much in premiums as long as you live and a relative gets a fixed sum when you die, there are almost as many variations of it as there are customers, since an agent can write almost any kind of policy the prospect wants.

* * *

Biggest trend in life insurance selling: Writing it on a "program" basis. Insurance man interviews his prospect, finds what his problems, income, family conditions, etc., are, then drafts the insurance program accordingly.

* * *

Sample program: Insurance that pays a lump sum of $1000 on death to cover funeral expenses (national burial average, say statistically-minded insurance men, is $1000 to $1220); then it will continue the exact salary of the deceased for two years to give the family a chance to adjust; after that it will pay a smaller fixed sum to the widow for life, to the children until they grow up; extra amounts may be included for Christmas and birthday presents to survivors, possibly another lump sum to pay off a mortgage on a house.

* * *

Most popular insurance policy recently: Family income type, a combination of ordinary insurance and "term" insurance. It pays so much a month to the family for a predetermined number of years after the policy-holder's death, after that either pays the face amount of the policy in a lump sum or pays a life income to the wife.

* * *

Under this plan, for instance, a young man might pay $27.20 a month for a $23,780 policy. It would provide $100 a month to his family for 20 years (by then, his children would be grown), then would be turned in for $10,000 cash, or turned into a life income of $50 a month for the wife.

* * *

Principal variations of ordinary life: Term insurance, which covers you with insurance for a definite number of years, is annually renewable at a slight increase in premium; 10- and 20-pay life, where you pay a premium for a definite number of years, get protection for the rest of your life; endowment insurance, which protects your life forever, also accumulates a definite sum that can be cashed in at the end of a predetermined number of years; retirement annuity, which gives protection, plus a life income when you retire.

* * *

Cheapest life insurance: Single premium, all paid in advance, benefits of which are more than double. Next cheapest in total outlay is 10-pay life.

* * *

Average life insurance policy is around $2300, local salesmen point out. Age average of policy-holders is constantly decreasing, with thousands of fathers buying insurance for their sons before they get out of policy. Earlier you buy insurance, the cheaper the premium (you can't get a regular policy until you're 10 years old, and the amount is limited until you're 15).

* * *

Some companies write only "standard business," insist that applicants' financial position, health and morals are in tip-top shape, and that his occupation isn't hazardous. Others write "sub-standard" policies, give a special rating to people in hazardous occupations.

* * *

Ratings are from "A" (excellent) to "J" according to the statistical risk. Aviators, for instance, are "J's," must pay $25 extra for $1000 of insurance each year. Highest rating, "AA" goes to office workers; truck drivers get an "E" and so do carpenters. Firemen are "G."

* * *

In life insurance, you can change your occupational rating after you sign up without losing your insurance; health and accident insurance are different, though, and if you suddenly become an aviator after you've taken out that kind of insurance, either the premiums go up or the claim is paid on the basis of the more hazardous occupation.

* * *

Assuming that you're insured, do you know just what you're insured for? Most people aren't certain, because they've never read their policies clear through. They probably don't know, for instance, whether a suicide would exempt the company from making payments, since companies vary on that point.

CONSTRUCTION COSTS UNDER ESTIMATES

Metropolitan Water district taxes won't go up this year.

Acting on the recommendation of its finance committee, the district's board of directors yesterday voted to limit the tax levy for 1938-39 to a 40-cent rate, the same as in effect during the past fiscal year.

Aqueduct construction costs, as a whole, have been considerably less than original estimates, finance committeemen said. Additional savings have been effected through a recent bond refunding agreement with RFC. These facts have made possible the same tax rate, they said, despite the fact that approximately $32,000,000 of additional bond funds were invested in aqueduct construction during the past year.

By the end of 1938-39, said General Manager F. E. Weymouth, the aqueduct system will be 92 per cent completed. Now the 391-mile water supply system, extending from the Colorado river to the 13 cities comprising the district, is 85 per cent completed.

Out of the 40-cent district tax rate, 35 cents will be used to meet interest payments on outstanding bonds and other capital charges; a five-cent levy is for general operating purposes.

The aqueduct, expected to be completed by late in 1939, will deliver a billion gallons of water a day to the 13 district cities, which includes Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton in Orange county.

Higher Rank for Top Army Officers Will Be Asked

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The army wants higher rank for some of its top officers, as a matter of prestige and morale.

General Malin Craig, chief of staff, said today he favored legislation proposed for the next session of congress to give the rank of full general or lieutenant general to commanding officers of Hawaii, the Canal Zone and the Philippines.

The major generals in command there now have to give official and social precedence to Admirals and vice admirals every time the fleet comes in, or to a foreign dignitary of high degree who pays a visit.

At times, officials said, it is nothing less than embarrassing.

CHAPTER I

"IF ISOLDE can vamp Ken right under my very nose she's welcome to him!" Julie Hamilton clamped her lips tight and beat cake batter furiously.

She and her friend, Edith Terry, were in the kitchen of the Hamilton home, preparing refreshments for Julie's birthday party tomorrow evening.

"Well, I think you're an idiot to let her get away with it!" Edith said, in exasperation: "The red-headed, green-eyed minx!"

She expertly molded a wad of warm chocolate candy into a caricature of Isolde Fleming, adding two dots of green icing for eyes.

"I don't see why Aunt Marthy doesn't send her back home!" she continued. "She was supposed to come for just a short visit but, as soon as she set eyes on Kenneth, she apparently decided to settle down here for life. And Kenneth is just a lump of clay in her hands!"

Julie shrugged. "Oh, forget it!"

The young lady under discussion, Isolde Fleming, was from New York. Her mother had grown up in this small Southern town and had been a schoolgirl chum of Kenneth Terry's mother. Mrs. Terry had invited Isolde to visit her, but the visit had now been prolonged into an indefinite stay.

Edith, Kenneth's orphaned cousin, was more like a sister to him, for she had been brought up by his mother and father. Hence her concern over the alluring Isolde's evident designs on Kenneth, whose engagement to Julie Hamilton had been more or less taken for granted by their respective families ever since Kenneth and Julie had been children. The Terrys and the Hamiltons were old friends, living next door to each other.

"I'M NOT half as much concerned about Ken and Isolde," Julie said now, "as I am about another man for the party tomorrow night. Gosh, why do I have to have my birthday in July, when so many of the boys are away!"

"Oh, I guess you can manage one party with a man short."

Julie set the cake batter aside and sat down, propping her elbows on the table.

"Gosh!" she murmured. "I'm sure getting old! Twenty years—and still no romance!"

Edith stared at her. "What are you talking about? You're engaged to Kenneth, aren't you?"

Julie made a wry face. "Lukewarm romance! Maybe Isolde can step up Ken's tempo—but I can't. I prefer a more dynamic hero." Her blue eyes grew dreamy. "I want to be swept off my feet. You know . . . kisses that would take your breath away . . . from a man who would die if he couldn't win you . . ."

"Hey! Hey!" a booming voice interrupted. "Where do you expect to find a man like that?"

The portly figure of Normandy Buford, a distant cousin of Julie's, had appeared in the doorway.

"Oh, hello, Nomby!" she said. "We're getting ready for the party. You're coming, aren't you?"

"Sure thing! That is, if you've invited a maiden lady of thirty or so to keep an old bachelor company."

"Well, here's Edith. She admits to twenty-six."

"Heathen!" Edith snorted.

FOOTSTEPS sounded in the hall. A moment later, Kenneth Terry, tall and lean, stepped into the kitchen.

He grinned. "Need a referee?"

Edith's eyes narrowed. "Julie has just been saying she craves romance with a capital R — says you're too lukewarm, Ken."

Kenneth flushed, and looked down at Julie. "What's the big idea?"

"Where's Isolde?" Julie asked pointedly.

"Home," he said. "I just got back from taking her down to the riding academy to see a fellow who claims he can ride that wild horse Dad bought. I think she's bored and wants somebody's neck broken for excitement."

"Then it's a wonder she didn't ask me to ride the horse!" Julie said spitefully.

"Here, here!" Normandy boomed. "Come on, Edith. Let's give them room."

He took Edith's arm, propelled her from the kitchen.

"Julie . . ." said Kenneth. "You aren't jealous of Isolde, are you?"

He took hold of her hands, drew her out of her chair, and tried to take her in his arms.

"Don't!" she said, pulling away.

"What's the matter, Julie? You know very well that Isolde means nothing to me. Naturally, since she's my mother's guest, I have to be nice to her. But . . ."

His arm went around her again, but she pushed him away.

"No, Ken . . . don't." She looked at him steadily. "I'm not sure . . . any more . . . that I'm going to marry you . . ."

"Julie!"

Before Kenneth could say anything more, Edith called from the hall, "Have you two made up yet? Hurry up! It's time to put that cake in the oven!"

"Come on in!" Julie called back.

SHE was raking the cake batter into pans as Edith and Normandy reappeared.

Normandy picked up a piece of candy.

"Wait!" said Edith. "Take this one and chew hard on it!" She handed him the caricature of Isolde.

Normandy studied it, then laughed. "How you do love the stranger within your gates!"

"You've all got Isolde wrong!" Kenneth said stubbornly. "Just because she's got spirit and likes to have a good time . . ."

"So it's spirit, is it?" Julie blazed. "And she likes to have a good time? Well, so do I! From now on, just you watch my speed!"

She turned and started shoving the cake pans into the oven.

"You two had better get out," Edith told Kenneth and Normandy, placatingly. "That cake will fall flat as a pancake with your big feet tramping around."

Kenneth reluctantly withdrew, followed by Normandy. When they were gone, Edith turned on Julie.

"Julie! Why did you quarrel with Ken? Now he'll go to Isolde for comfort! She'll get him as sure as you're living!"

"She can have him!"

Just then, there was a rap on the outside door. Julie flounced across the room and flung the door open.

Her eyes widened. On the back porch stood a young man — tall and straight and thin. His shabby clothes were dusty, his face streaked with perspiration, his black hair tousled, and his deep-set eyes lined with dark circles—but Julie thought she had never seen any one so handsome! A sombrero was in his hand, and a guitar was strapped across his shoulders.

He bowed, asked weakly, "Could I . . . have a drink of cool water . . ."

Then, suddenly, his knees buckled and he fell in a swoon across the doorstep, the guitar splintering as it struck the floor.

His clothes were shabby, his hair tousled—but Julie thought she had never seen any one so handsome!

3 ARRESTED AFTER RAID ON TALENT STUDIO

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Two officers of the National Talent Pictures corporation and the wife of one of them were held on charges of grand theft and bunko today while police officers questioned mothers of would-be child screen stars brought here as winners of contests in various parts of the country.

Lieut. Merle B. Swan of the Los Angeles police central bunko squad, who led 25 officers in a raid on the collonaded studio of the corporation yesterday, said after interviewing several of the mothers that it appeared operations of the concern had extended to every state of the union and into Canada.

He said apparently at least $100,000 in franchises for local dancing schools, costumes and other fees was involved.

Held under $500 bonds each for arraignment August 26 were Ira C. Overdorff, 55, president of the corporation; his wife, Myrtle, 53, and Eddie Rose, 32, vice-president of the concern and publisher of a house organ.

A fourth asserted member of the organization, identified as a salesman, was also named in a warrant sworn to by Mrs. Harry L. Gross of Wichita Falls, Tex., representative of a dance studio. She had come here with Mrs. C. N. Raley and her 10-year-old daughter, Coleen, winner of the Wichita Falls talent contest.

Mrs. Gross and Mrs. John G. Moore of Salinas, Calif., who brought her two daughters to the talent studio here after they had won a contest at Salinas, told Lieut. Swan that Overdorff claimed their studios had not paid a $250 fee for their franchises with the corporation.

Swan said scores of mothers have come here in the last few weeks with child winners of talent contests. They complained they had been charged large sums for costumes and other items which they were told were necessary if the children were to obtain film roles, Swan declared, but the promised roles did not materialize.

The Journal carrier boys—15 in number—went sea fishing yesterday aboard the Star of Hollywood anchored off Huntington Beach's pier, with Bob Dugan of 617 Lacy street landing the largest fish, a 10-pound halibut.

The fishing expedition was led by The Journal's circulation assistants, James Doyle and Howard Chadwick, and was another of the newspaper's numerous entertainments for its carriers.

Horse Swapped 25 Times In 3 Days as Traders Assemble

ALMOND, N. Y. (AP) — The World's Horse Traders' convention moved toward its biggest and final night today with 453 horses staked out for trading.

A blind mare had been traded 25 times in the first three days and it was expected she would be passed along some more tonight.

President George Kame, on whose farm the convention met, said Cliff Baham of Whitesville, N. Y., traded a gray mare with the heaves to Carl Breese of Elddale, Pa., for a black mare with a felt boot on a rear leg and a "hornet's nest" (rupture) on its side.

"Baham gave Breese 35 cents to boot," Kame said. "And they actually shook hands after the deal."

TOWN RAIDED IN HOLY LAND

JERUSALEM. (AP) — Troops, planes and police searched the hills around Hebron today for a band which raided and terrified that city of 18,000 population last night.

The band killed an Arab constable and wounded a British policeman.

Troops were called to the scene quickly and they calmed the inhabitants while the gang fled to the hills.

Authorities clamped down a 24-hour curfew on Hebron at dawn, and the situation was normal again today.

Boys on Hand Car Outrace Police, But Phone Traps Them

WILMETTE, Ill. (AP) — Police yesterday chased six teen-age boys who took a joy-ride on a railroad hand car.

So fast did the youths pump along that Policeman Edward Whiteside and John Henrickson, riding in a squad car, were unable to head them off. The officers radioed ahead to nearby Kenilworth. There, a squad parked on the track.

The joy-riders brought the car to a halt and fled afoot.

The officers had the task of pumping the car two miles, back to the railroad yard from which it was taken.

Life Should Begin for This Woman of 35 Who Thinks It's Through

"I still love him—"

That is the heart-sob from a wife who was deserted after 10 years from her "handsome" mate— Yes, deserted because their little girl was partially paralyzed by an accident at her birth, and she, the mother, was in poor health for about eight years—

Should I print in full this wronged woman's letter it would easily form a novelette— Space does not permit. Therefore I have taken the first and the last part of her story which will tell the important part of it in accordance with the advice she seeks:

Dear Miss Stoddard: We were married when we were 18 and 21, were supremely happy for the first 10 years. My husband is handsome and girls have always chased him, but until he was in his early 30's he didn't pay a bit of attention to them.

The first year a little girl was born and due to a birth injury her left side was paralyzed and she will never have the use of her arm. I was also injured and not in good health for eight years afterward, although I was a normal wife to him, danced, played cards, went hunting and fishing with him. The first 10 years were a struggle financially, but through careful managing we pulled through and money came more easily. Then he started wandering—stayed away from home and I learned he was having an affair with a girl in another town. I was bewildered and stunned. He said perhaps we'd best separate, as he didn't love me any more. I was away six months. To make a long story short, when I returned he gathered me in his arms and asked me to come back to him for the sake of everyone.

Then he wanted a son, which God favored us with a year later. But that was the end. He began having an affair with this girl he later married when I was unable to go about with him. Then the final blow—divorce! My son is now 16 months old and his father is married to this girl, while all we have is enough to live on.

SOME HAPPY YEARS AHEAD

With all this mental cruelty, I still go on loving him—I sometimes wonder if it is love, or just the loss of the companion, the loss of security and protection, or just habit, having him around? I don't think so. If I see him on the street, my heart misses a beat and my head swims. I know you would say I was foolish to love a man who turned his back upon me and bought his way out like he did. I suppose women are fools. The lawyers who got my divorce for me said I had been a doormat for him, and that no man loved a woman for that.

Can you help set me straight on this troublesome road? Maybe through your long experience you can help me just a little when life hardly seems worth the effort.

I am still young and attractive, wear good looking clothes and keep myself well groomed—that some good man will want me who will show me that there are some fine men left in the world, and that they are not all sex-crazy to the extent that they forget real love and loyalty. Thanks, anyway, Miss Stoddard, for anything you may say.

DESPONDENT.

The first and the last part of your letter shows that you are suffering mostly from an inferiority complex and an emotional hangover. "I still love him," you say. But do you? Examine your heart and ask yourself frankly that if you could have him back, would you want him? You know you wouldn't unless he should change a great deal, and men of his type seldom change much—not after they are as old as he is.

You sign yourself "Despondent" because you are grovelling in the aftermath of an unrequited love when you should have turned your back on the whole sordid mess and be making footsteps forward to find a new and better life.

The friends you have are true friends and for that you should be really thankful. Have you read the book, "Life Begins at Forty"? If not, you might get a few ideas from it and congratulate yourself that you still have five years to learn how to really live. Every time you even start thinking of your husband, read something or go some place that will help you to put these thoughts from your head. Build yourself a new and more substantial mental house through right, clear thinking and active living and you will be really surprised how quickly you can get into the habit of putting these useless, sordid longings out of your mind.

This much I do know from actual experience that if one has the courage and mental stamina to change ones' thought process from something worthless to something constructive, it can be done—what others have done we too can do. Life is too short to waste it in the mental doldroms—climb out and look about for a man who will appreciate you for your good points. It won't be long after that when you will realize the entire truth of your friends' counsel.

SANTA ANA CHURCHES WELCOME YOU

SERMONETTE

(ON THIS WEEK'S CHURCH SCHOOL LESSON)

By Glenn L. Thorne

Our lesson for this week calls for a study of a part of the life of another of God's noble women, Hannah. The setting is in the last days of the Judges when political chaos, social looseness and religious degeneration were all about. Here seems to be a great similarity of conditions such as may be found today.

It seems to have been the hope of Hannah, as almost all Jewish women, to be the mother of that male child who should be the One to bruise the head of Satan. Yet she was barren, and to be barren was considered a great misfortune. She was a loving wife and felt her sorrow deeply. So much so that she took her troubles to God. If ever a woman prayed and sincerely, Hannah did at this time. She makes the promise to the Lord that if He will grant her request she will give the child unto the Lord all the days of his life.

Her prayer is answered. A son is born to Hannah and she calls his name Samuel. Though we shall not discuss him today, he later becomes one of the great men of the Bible. We read that after his birth Hannah remained at home and nursed the child until the time of his weaning. In those days this may have been until he was five or six years old. Then she took him (not sent him) unto the house of the Lord, fulfills her vow and presents him to the Lord for His service. Hannah is known for her noble and happy motherhood. Through her son Samuel was the course of events changed in Israel.

But as with Israel, so are we living in a day of decline in social standards and behavior, and our home life is at a low ebb. Real homemaking seems to be going out of style. In its place are furnished apartments with suit cases that can easily be moved to another apartment upon short notice. Children are not expected or desired. Women have been granted the franchise and business and politics are now claiming their time and thought so fully that there is no time for home building and motherhood.

And the world is paying and suffering for it. The coming days will make it even more apparent. We need to be called back to the Bible teaching and type of home life. Our civilization can be preserved at a high standard only as this is done. The home is the necessary unit of society if our civilization is to be kept off the rocks.

How fortunate the child who can have a Hannah for a mother. One of the world's greatest needs is better mothers. Perhaps here is a good time to ask ourselves a few questions. Are we living in the home as we should, and training and holding our children as we should? Are we giving to the church and world any Samuels? Hannah gave time to Samuel's care and training and made some sacrifices, yet she made good with her son. Are we making good with our sons and daughters?

WANTED: HANNAHS

We seem to be forgetting today the old saying, "the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world." We are in great need of a Samuel, but we cannot have a Samuel without a Hannah. What a glory is the Hannah type of motherhood.

SCREEN ATTRACTIONS AT SANTA ANA THEATERS

DRAMA AND COMEDY BLEND IN THIS FILM

Dramatic situations interspersed with comedy moments march across the screen in "A Letter of Introduction," which opens an engagement at the Broadway theater tomorrow along with "Painted Desert," western action drama starring George O'Brien.

Adolphe Menjou, Andrea Leeds and George Murphy provide the drama in "A Letter of Introduction." The comedy is excellently taken care of by that remarkable pair, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy. The picture is said to be a succession of vividly contrasting emotional scenes, forceful direction, superlative acting and a powerful and dramatic event.

Andrea Leeds and Adolphe Menjou carry the story of an aging actor who discovers, through a letter of introduction, that he is the father of a grown daughter, the role played by Miss Leeds. The actor's ego, coupled with the fear of losing his screen-idol popularity, prompts him to conceal their true relationship and to extract from his daughter a promise of secrecy.

Through this deception comes a succession of events, some tragic, some dramatic, some hilarious. George Murphy is Miss Leeds' suspicious finance; Rita Johnson George's dancing partner; Ann Sheridan Menjou's society-fiancee, and Eve Arden is a sophisticated show girl. McCarthy emerges as tops in the comedy line, but has an unexpected rival in Mortimer Sneed, a rural dummy who makes his screen debut in this production.

A battle for control of a valuable mine forms the basis of "Painted Desert," George O'Brien's latest starring vehicle. The mine is a tungsten deposit on an Arizona cattle range, and around it centers what is said to be one of the season's most exciting screen stories.

In partnership with the pretty heir of an old prospector who originally discovered the property, O'Brien is plunged into a bitter struggle with a shady mining promoter who seeks to obtain the mine for himself, and who tries everything from financial pressure to murder to gain his ends. Laraine Johnson has the feminine lead.

NAVY COMEDY COMING HERE

Join the navy and see the girls! That's a fair picture of a sailor's life, at least when the fleet's in, according to the new marine comedy, "Give Me a Sailor," which opens at the Broadway theater a week from tomorrow.

With Bob Hope, Martha Raye, Betty Grable and Jack Whiting playing the leading roles, the picture tells a rollicking story of two sailors who pursue the same girl but change their minds when the girl's Cinderella sister turns out to be the winner of a national beauty contest.

'HEART OF THE ROCKIES' HERE NEXT FRIDAY

"Heart of the Rockies," which will be seen in Santa Ana for the first time Friday in the State theater, promises to be one of the outstanding western dramas of the year.

The Three Mesquiteers, Bob Livingston, Ray Corrigan and Max Terhune, find themselves in a different predicament, with wild animals making way with their cattle, but the Rangers from the game preserve forbidden by law their killing any of the marauders. The boys engage the aid of a clan of backwoods trappers, paying a bounty on each animal killed on their land in the act of destroying their cattle. Unbeknownst to the Mesquiteers, Ed Dawson and his clan are in reality the true cattle rustlers, cloaking their activity by forcing Davy, a small son of the clan, to stooge for them.

Matters come to a head when one of the rangers, who guard the game in the nearby national park, is killed, and Stony is named as the murderer. Stony's many threats when the Rangers interfered with his protecting his cattle herds, have placed him in a perilous predicament, but Stony gets out of it, with the aid of his fellow "Mesquiteers," and Lorna, the heroine, who is most appealingly played by Lynn Roberts.

On the same program are "Kennedy's Castle," a comedy; "Big Birdcast," a cartoon in color; "Tim Tyler's Luck," a serial, and world news events.

WAR DRAMA COMING SOON

Hailed as one of the season's finest romantic dramas, "The Shopworn Angel" has been booked for an early showing at the West Coast theater, it was announced today.

The cast of this romance, which is set in the emotional World war days, includes Margaret Sullavan, James Stewart and Walter Pidgeon.

Another picture booked at the West Coast is "Sing You Singers," an appealing family comedy with a cast headed by Bing Crosby, Fred MacMurray, Donald O'Connor and Elizabeth Patterson.

SINGERS INJURED

KOBLENZ, Germany. (AP)—Thirteen members of the well known Don Cossack Russian choir were badly hurt today when a bus in which 40 singers of the organization were traveling crashed into a tree.

MUSIC HISTORY RECOUNTED IN BERLIN MOVIE

Irving Berlin is wondering if he will be considered somewhat of a traitor to the song-writing world.

This world-famous composer was induced by Darryl F. Zanuck, 20th Century-Fox production chief, to write the original story for the spectacular production of "Alexander's Ragtime Band," which now is attracting big crowds to the West Coast theater.

But when he handed it in, instead of the emphasis being on music, the story predominantly stressed the dramatic theme. Starting with the time, 1911, when he wrote his first big international song hit, "Alexander's Ragtime Band," Berlin carried the sweeping drama through the World war years up to the present.

Although the story centers around Alexander, played by Tyrone Power, and his sensational band which he developed on the Barbary Coast, most of the action of the story takes place in high emotional scenes in San Francisco, New York's Greenwich Village, a New York theater, a London theater and Carnegie Hall.

For almost three decades, the drama depicts forces that brought about the development of ragtime, jazz and swing music — realism that Berlin saw and got to know during the years when he was turning out song hits that made his name known throughout the world. Power, Alice Faye, Don Ameche, Ethel Merman, Jack Haley and Jean Hersholt head the great cast.

An added attraction is "Steel—Man's Servant," a different type of feature. Produced in Technicolor, it is the dramatic and thrilling story of the manufacture of steel, from the time it leaves the mines until it is fashioned into tools and materials.

RACKETS FILM TO OPEN HERE ON THURSDAY

"Racket Busters," an absorbing and timely drama taken from the front pages of today's newspapers, will open at the Broadway theater next Thursday with "Keep Smiling," starring little Jane Withers.

"Racket Busters" is a thoroughgoing expose of the cancer of racketeering eating at the heart of almost every large American community today, and tells in detailed and exciting fashion how this malignant growth can not only be halted but eradicated. The cast includes such stars as Humphrey Bogart, George Brent, Gloria Dickson, Allen Jenkins and Walter Abel.

Gloria Stuart and Henry Wilcoxon are featured in the cast with Jane Withers in "Keep Smiling," and others in the film include Helen Westley, Jed Prouty, Douglas Fowley and Robert Allen.

The story deals with the hilarious and often heart-tugging adventures of a boarding school girl who goes to Hollywood to visit her movie director-uncle, whom she has never seen. Finding him down on his luck, deserted by his fair-weather friends and unable to get a job, in typical Jane Withers fashion she manages to patch up his shattered career, and winds up by making one for herself in the movies.

Olivia de Havilland of the films steps out in an early fall frock of fine beige wool. Notice the big bag and corselet belt of brown alligator she uses as accents.

'SNOW WHITE' AT WALKER'S TOMORROW

Fairyland comes to Santa Ana tomorrow in a form that satisfies the wildest imagination of youngsters and oldsters alike, as Walt Disney's famous feature-length animated picture, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" begins a three-day engagement at Walker's theater.

In production for three years, "Snow White" presents as living, credible beings the persons of Snow White, the seven dwarfs, the queen, the prince and other characters in the Grimms' phantasy.

Although the story is sprayed with glowing colors, festooned with unique Disney touches and is given touches of sparkle, drama and pathos impossible in the original, the tale itself nevertheless retains its unforgettable atmosphere of charm.

As a second attraction, the most entertaining topical record of the Dionne quintuplets will be shown under the title, "Quintupland." A two-reel RKO-Pathe featurette, it shows the five little girls as they're going on four years. A newsreel and Pete Smith sport reel, "Surf Heroes," completes the program.

ROB'T. TAYLOR WILL BE SEEN IN NEW FILM

"The Crowd Roars," Robert Taylor's latest starring feature opens at the West Coast theater next Wednesday.

The picture, which was previewed not long ago at the Broadway theater here, present Taylor in his first prize-fight role.

Teamed with the star again is Maureen O'Sullivan. And for competition there's her school chum, Jane Wyman, admirable in her role as the blonde rival for Taylor's affections.

Frank Morgan has one of the most important roles in the film as Taylor's father, the dissolute ex-vaudeville "ham." Edward Arnold as the big-shot gambler who pulls the behind-the-arena strings; William Gargan as an ex-lightheavyweight champ who is killed by his former pupil, Isabel Jewel, Lionel Stander, Nat Pendleton and Gene Raymond, complete the cast

That amazing Mr. Moto, the trigger-witted fictional detective created by J. P. Marquand, faces his most sensationad adventure in "Mr. Moto Takes a Chance," which is on the same bill. Peter Lorre is starred. Disguised as an archaeologist. the detective goes to the jungles of Indo-China to suppress a native uprising.

LIVELY BRITISH MUSICAL HERE THURSDAY

Jessie Matthews' new musical, "Sailing Along," which opens its first Santa Ana showing Thursday at Walker's theater, reveals the pert and lithesome star at her best.

Gaumont has "gone overboard" for this production with lavish sets, a sprightly and original story, catchy music and its best cast.

Little Edith Fellows, "spoiled brat" of the Columbia studios, adds another fact to her ability with her performance in "City Streets," which plays as second feature Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with Leo Carrillo as her co-star.

As a crippled child befriended by a neighborhood Italian grocer, the 13-year-old star proves herself one of the best of Hollywood's younger generation. Carrillo supplies another of his inimitable and heart-warming portraits.

Also showing is the monthly "March of Time," featuring a dramatization of the grave U. S. problem of traffic fatalities and an exciting pictorialization of international intrigue in the officially neutral zone of Tangier.

MOTHER CAREY ENDS TONIGHT

The efforts of four children to fill the void their father's sudden demise leaves in their home and to preserve their life together are threaded into the plot of "Mother Carey's Chickens," film version of the novel by Kate Douglas Wiggins which ends tonight at the Broadway theater.

Anne Shirley, Ruby Keeler, Jackie Moran and Donnie Dunagan are the four "chicks" who valiantly stick by the side of their mother in the face of almost unsurmountable obstacles when their father, a navy captain, dies in action during the Spanish-American war. James Ellison, Fay Bainter, Walter Brennan, Frank Albertson and Ralph Morgan have leading roles.

Modern training methods for student fliers and a daring flight across the Arctic to map a new air route to Europe offer the background against which the powerful drama of "Sky Giant," the second attraction, is played.

Snow White Here Tomorrow

Already the undisputed picture-of-the-year, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" starts a three-day engagement for Santa Anans at Walker's theater tomorrow. Walt Disney's gorgeously produced musical feature-length animated picture is a drastic departure from previous technique in the animated field.

Featured on the State Screen

Charles Starrett and Iris Meridith in "Outlaws of the Prairie" at the State theater for three days, starting Sunday. On the same bill is "You and Me," starring Silvia Sidney, George Raft and Harry Carey.

PAT, KAY NEW STAR TEAM AT STATE SOON

A new co-starring team makes its screen debut at the State theater Wednesday with the initial performance of a new Warner Brothers comedy called "Women Are Like That."

Curiously, although they have been at the same studio for several years, Kay Francis and Pat O'Brien, have never before worked in a picture together. Years ago on the stage, they were teamed up in "Nigger Rich."

Pat and Kay are said to make an ideal movie team. "Women Are Like That" is a gay comedy revolving around the advertising business.

While this movie is by no means a fashion show, the advance notices from the producers say that Miss Francis (always listed among the 10 best dressed women of the world) wears no less than 35 different costumes, created by the Warner stylist, Orry Kelly.

The original story of "Women Are Like That," was by A. H. Z. Carr and was printed in a national magazine under the title of "Return from Limbo." It was made into a screenplay by Horace Jackson and the picture was directed by Stanley Logan who was also responsible for Kay's highly successful comedy of political life, "First Lady."

On the same bill is "Hunted Men," a drama of the underworld and racketeers, featuring Mary Carlisle, Lloyd Nolan, Lynne Overman, J. Carrol Naish and Anthony Quinn. Nolan plays the part of the big shot racketeer who admits he is no bigger than the gun he carries.

"Miracle Money," a novelty, completes the bill.

Torchy Blane Film Stars New Cast

Lola Lane and Paul Kelly come to Walker's theater Wednesday as the stars of "Torchy Blane in Panama," the latest Warner Bros. series of exciting pictures about the exploits of the daring girl reporter.

With the new stars replacing the team of Glenda Farrell and Barton MacLane, the whole cast of the new "Torchy Blane" series has been given a new deal.

In the second feature of the Wednesday program, which makes only a one-night stand, Marian Marsh and Henry Wilcoxon are co-starred in "Prison Nurse," a realistic portrayal of typical prison life.

A large proportion of overweight people between the ages of 30 and 65, hitherto, diagnosed and treated as diabetics, can be cured by weight control, according to studies made at the University of Michigan hospital.

PRISON DRAMA OPENS SUNDAY AT THE STATE

The prison "grapevine" system of communication is seen and heard in action in the new Sylvia Sidney-George Raft film, "You and Me," which comes Sunday to the State theater.

The "grapevine" system is a code prisoners use in large penal institutions to talk between themselves, or to convey information that is forbidden by the prison regulations. It is worked on the simple principal that mental pipes carry sound, and since each prison is by necessity fitted with plumbing, the primitive telephone will carry a code wherever the pipeline goes.

The actual code consists of rapping very lightly on the pipe.

In "You and Me," a dramatic sequence is enacted by setting to music the "grapevine" code. The song is called "The Knocking Song" and was Written by Kurt Weill.

Crystal Gifts Shower Bride-Elect

A crystal shower was the pleasant medium through which Miss Louise Sexton extended courtesy last night to Miss Mary Lou McFarland. Miss McFarland, daughter of the O. Scott McFarlands, is to become the bride on October first of Stewart Neece of Huntington Beach.

The affair was given in the Sexton home, 1407 Spurgeon street, and carried out a pink and white motif. This was emphasized at the card tables, centered with bowls of white oleanders and pink asters, where dessert was served to precede an evening of games. Ice cream roll centered with pink wedding bell was served with tiny cakes iced in pink and white.

Tallies continued the general theme and bore miniature bride and groom figures, were distributed for three tables of contract and one of Chinese checkers. Scoring high in contract were Mrs. Walter Blair and Mrs. Harry Manns, and each was rewarded with a pretty prize. The honoree was then presented with three huge beribboned boxes containing crystal in her chosen pattern.

Invited with the hostess, Miss Sexton and her mother, Mrs. J. C. Sexton who assisted in all details of the evening were the honoree, Miss Mary Lou McFarland, her mother, Mrs. O. Scott McFarland and her fiance's mother, Mrs. Jack Lorenzen, and the Misses Alice Clare McFarland, Lois Pranke, Betty Martin, Frances Was, Eva Bergee, Hazel Cartwright, Jean Munro, Roberta Tuthill, Eunice Spicer, Margaret Munro, Beatrice Granas, Mary Wallace, and Mesdames Chris Ema, Walter Blair, Harry Manns and Marvin Starry.

50th Anniversary of Lodge Celebrated Here; One of 34 Charter Members Still Lives

By DR. MARY E. WRIGHT

The 50th anniversary of Sycamore Rebekah lodge celebrated lately was an important occasion because so many of the prominent persons of Santa Ana are a part of the lodge's history.

One of the 34 charter members—Mrs. Martha Ritchey—is still living, but was unable to be present because of illness.

Mrs. Oceana Edgar, initiated at the first meeting of the newly instituted order, was present and accorded honors.

Noble Grand Lena Hamilton presiding at the meeting, requested Conductor Maud Sebastian to escort the numerous distinguished guests to seats on the platform—Rev. Eldred Charles, deputy grand master of I. O. O. F. of Cal.; William Peterkin, major general of Patriarch Militant; Stella Myrick, P. P., from Los Angeles; Helen McClurg, P. P., from Idaho.

Florence Crawford and Bess Stovall, both past district deputies; Lydia Stephens, Grace Gilliland of Long Beach, Nora Edwards and Ida Davis of Orange, Theresa Baker of Whittier and Leota Allen of Santa Ana, were seated on the platform and each presented with a gardenia corsage.

Mrs. Fannie M. Lacy was the specially honored guest and was noble grand in 1886, when president of California Rebekah assembly. She is the oldest officer in point of service. She carried a lovely bouquet of golden gladioli, the gift of the lodge.

Torosa Rebekah lodge attended in a body and the huge basket of golden dahlias they presented was added to the room already beautifully decorated in gold and green.

In reading the history of the lodge Mrs. Flossie Baker gave the high lights.

The first noble grand was Elizabeth Furstenfeld; vice grand, Wilela Howe; recording secretary, Marie Johnston; financial secretary, Ella Cummings; treasurer, Martha Jerome.

Of the 96 noble grands the lodge has had, 65 are still living.

The highest peak in membership was 339 in 1923, when Bess Stovall was noble grand. The largest number initiated in one year was in 1907 when Emma Chandler was leader.

The present membership has dropped to 201, but Sycamore lodge is the largest in the county.

It was from Sycamore lodge, the first in the county, that the oher six have branched.

At the close of the lodge meeting, a fine program was given, the play, "Life of Rebekah," put on by a cast of 22 people from Del Mar lodge of Long Beach. An address by Rev. Eldred Charles followed.

Ushered to the banquet room, the guests found a room with golden bells in profusion, tables decorated with golden blooms and green tapers.

At each place were small cakes with a lighted candle on each and a little gold book as a souvenir of the occasion. On one table was a huge birthday cake served with dessert.

Each guest signed a book of gold which was presented to the noble grand.

The birthday of Maude Sebastian, conductor, was honored with a handkerchief shower.

Mrs. Bess McDonald had supervision of the dining room, Mrs. Flossie Baker of the program.

Among the long-time members are three of the five district deputies still living—Justine Whitney, Florence Crawford and Bessie Stovall.

Other old timers in the lodge are the William Morrisons, the A. E. Shoemakers, the J. E. Liebigs, the A. H. T. Taylors, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morgan, the Will Clarks, Fannie Rose, Emma Chandler, George Peters, Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford, Therese Dunning, the John Ryans, the Charles Matterns, Ella Camp, Oceana Edgar and longest of all, Martha Ritchie.

The children have just recently returned from a six weeks vacation with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Greeley, at Hood Canal, Washington.

BRIDGETTES ARE ENTERTAINED

A variety of flowers decked the home of Mrs. E. W. Ashland, 823 Cypress street Wednesday evening, when she entertained Bridgettes. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. E. C. Cornecl, scoring high, and to Mrs. Edward Opper, low.

The hostess served fresh peach pie alamode and coffee at the card tables at the close of the evening. Others present were Mrs. Don Murphy, Mrs. Mabel Gowdy, Mrs. G. F. Ludlow and Mrs. Edwin Child.

Miss Eleanor Redmond Is Wed In Lovely Setting

An out-of-door setting was the surrounding that Miss Eleanor Redmond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Redmond, chose for her wedding to Lee Chase Palmer of Hollywood. The gardens of the San Antonio chapel on 101 highway near Anaheim, were softly lighted with many tapers, set among white dahlias and amarillys. The aisle was marked with pink ribbons tied from baskets of dahlias, and the altar was banked in the same bridal-white flowers.

Miss Redmond, given in marriage by her father, wore a modishly tailored suit of forest green, with black accessories. Her flowers were bouvardia and gardenias. Mrs. Hiram J. Redmond, the groom's sister, was matron of honor, chose a smart fall print, with matching accessories and a corsage of salmon begonias. The bride's small niece, Joan Redmond, was in a dainty pink taffeta, and carried a nosegay of flowers.

The bride's mother wore a black tailored suit, and had a shoulder corsage of white bouvardia. Mrs. Palmer was gowned in a flowered silk, and had a similar corsage.

Hiram J. Redmond assisted his brother-in-law as best man. Only the families were present.

Preceding the rites, which were read by the Rev. Dr. Arthur H. Wurtele, of St. Thomas Episcopal church in Hollywood, Miss Frances Knucols sang, accompanied by herself, also playing the wedding marches.

A reception was held in the gardens of the chapel. The table was charmingly appointed, and was centered by a huge wedding cake.

The new Mrs. Palmer, who was a popular member of the younger set in Santa Ana, had her schooling in this city. She was affiliated with Job's Daughters, and later with the Eastern Star circles. She has been with the Orange County Social Welfare bureau. Mr. Palmer attended Hollywood schools, and is with the General Paint company. After a wedding trip the young couple will make their home in Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Forcey of Los Angeles were Santa Ana visitors yesterday.

When the Lurline sailed out of Los Angeles harbor late yesterday afternoon, it had aboard Avery Johnson, son of Mrs. Lulu Johnson, 606 South Broadway, who will vacation for a month in Honolulu. Many of his friends and relatives were at the dock to wish him bon voyage.

Miss Kathryn Sexton of Los Angeles, and her roommate, Miss Marie Thompson of Salt Lake City are spending the week-end with the former's mother and sister, Mrs. J. C. Sexton and daughter, Miss Louise Sexton, 1407 Spurgeon street.

Miss Eunice Spicer, 2415 North Main street, is vacationing at Laguna Beach.

Jack Tyler, 640 North Van Ness street, has resumed his duties on The Journal staff after an enjoyable vacation, part of which was spent at the Fiesta in Santa Barbara. The remainder of the time he spent at Catalina Island with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Tyler of Los Angeles. He made the trip over by 'plane, returning by boat.

Forming a party which will leave tomorrow morning for a week's vacation at Catalina are Mrs. Dorothy Close and sister, Miss Edna Wilson, who is here from Ventura on vacation, Miss Edith Oborne and sister, Miss Mildred Oborne of Van Nuys, and Miss Marcella Brown.

Another party of girls who are leaving for Catalina tomorrow are the Misses Erline Farmer, Dorothy VanDeusen, Lois Murray and Arden Murray, while going over for the following week-end will be Loren Wilson, Carl Wopschall, Bud Watkins and Orval Hood.

SAN CLEMENTE CASINO TO BE SCENE OF BALL

A world of interest is being manifested by prominent Orange county folk in the Bal Cap D'Antibes, which will be held next Friday evening at the Casino San Clemente. The Antibes ball, so named because of the similarity of the San Clemente coast to the point of Antibes on the French Riviera, had as its inspiration the original ball presented in France five years ago. At this time, several hundred important Parisian artists presented an elaborate ball without benefit of full dress, for they were on vacation and without the proper attire, so came in whatever informal clothing they fancied.

In this same spirit of carefree attire, guests are bidden to attend the ball Friday evening, and reservations have been made by many prominent Los Angeles people who will come in slacks, shorts, sandals, dirndls and berets to dance to the beguiling music of Les Parker's orchestra. A brilliant floor show will be presented at midnight, featuring Nanita Torrance, singer from the Empire room of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, New York; Leona Anderson, Hollywood picture comedienne, and the three winning couples of the recent "Jitterbug" contest, who will present their eccentric swing dances.

Reservations have been made by many prominent Hollywood stars, including Frances Langford, Jon Hall, Dixie Dunbar, Anne Shirley, John Howard Payne, Hedda Hopper and others, to say nothing of Richard Halliburton and others prominent in other walks of life.

ENTERTAINS AT LUNCHEON

Members of a luncheon bridge club were pleasantly entertained Wednesday when they met with Mrs. Paul Hales, 311 Wright street.

The tasty menu was served from a buffet table which was centered with waxen white magnolias, and guests were seated at card tables, each with its centerpiece of marigolds in a blue bowl. Prizes were won by Miss Lucy Holmes, scoring high, and Mrs. Ray Cartwright, second high.

Mrs. Cartwright was a guest substitute, while others present were Mrs. George Preble, Mrs. Thomas Jentges, Mrs. Edward Sugden, Mrs. Fayette Birtcher and Mrs. Woodrow Barnett.

COLLEGIENNE ENTERTAINS

Among the many Santa Ana coeds who are spending a busy summer about town, is Miss Charlotte Mock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mock, of 1701 Bush street. Miss Mock attended summer session at Santa Ana Junior college, and is now entertaining college classmates.

Miss Anne Ritchie, of Los Angeles, has been a recent guest in the Mock home. Miss Ritchie and Miss Mock are members of Delta Gamma sorority at the University of Southern California, where the latter will enroll as a senior this fall.

MOTHERS TO MEET

Legion Mother's club meets Monday for all day in the home of Mrs. Florence Robinson, 2103 North Flower street. Luncheon will be served at noon.

September Bride-Elect

MISS JEAN BERRY

Miss Jean Berry, attractive daughter of Thomas Berry of Huntington Beach, and youthful teacher in the city schools there, who will become the bride of Willard Lusk, teacher at Excelsior High school, on September first. Miss Berry returned recently from a Honolulu vacation.

CHAT AWHILE with BETTY

Get out the aspirin tablets folks! Here comes this column again! And while Betty Guild wanders over the great northwest these two weeks, this same column will be under the somewhat hazy guidance of those two society sleuths (???) Caro Cogan and Miriam Smith.

Title of Local Boy Makes Good goes this week to Charles Downie, jr., son of the C. E. Downies of Berrydale road, who is doing big things on the San Francisco Chronicle. Charles was down for a brief visit last week-end, and is now devoting himself to work on the Sunday magazine section. He is becoming somewhat of a play critic too, for all his youth, and has shown a real knack for that type of work. The Downies are also very proud of daughter Elizabeth, who in September will graduate from a course in Physicitherapy at a Los Angeles hospital. That will make her a full-fledged Physiotherapist, which sounds and is very imposing as well as a little frightening.

Natalie Neff and Juanita Pico will wander in Tuesday next after a hard grind over the books at Stanford summer school, but are managing to get in a little fun this week-end after gruelling final exams. They are being escorted about San Francisco by Margaret Lyman, who taught elementary school the past two years here, and who will teach in Berkeley schools this fall.

* * *

Charlotte Mock has been keeping the home fires burning these past two weeks for Papa Carl, while Mama Louise and younger sister, Carla Jo, trek to Vancouver and back. Charlotte will be able to relinquish her household duties Tuesday, when the wanderers are scheduled to arrive home.

Had lots of fun in San Diego last week seeing things with Jack and Elza Sanders who are visiting their with their son and heir, Jack, jr., or "Sandy," from Aurora, Ill. Elza Sanders was Elza Venn when she lived here some years ago and attended the local high school. Lots of you will remember her.

Ran into Betty and Kenneth Prince too, on the Balboa Park golf course in San Diego. They were completing a foursome with the latter's parents, Walter and Besse Prince. Betty said "Tell everyone hello!" So here it is!

Many of you are familiar with petite Blanche Brown, demon insurance saleswoman, and author of some note on insurance topics. But haw many of you know that she is a graduate of that very well-known Emma Augusta Greeley School for Girls at Boston, where she was privileged to meet and mingle with many of the best known contemporary stage actors and actresses of that time?

While some of the Paxtons have been whipping around here and there, going to school, and the islands, and whatnot, Miss Peggy Paxton has been nursing a broken collar bone, which she sustained while having "fun" (?) in the Venice funzone. Mary has gone to Berkeley for her senior year at California, and also to visit with friends while en route. Her aunt, Mrs. Nettie French, will be, about this time, enjoying hula dances and poi in the Hawaiian islands.

It will be only for those who have a birthday anniversary to mark in the coming week, and it will be at the new home of Paul and charming Murietta Dinsmore, at the Irvine ranch. It is a birthday dinner Monday evening, honor guests being Margaret Hall, Kay Farwell, and Paul Dinsmore, who all can add one more candle to their cake, about the same date in this month. Incidentally, the Dinsmore home is very lovely, being an odd shade of "pink," trimmed with white. You know, they lost about everything in the way of clothes, and furniture in a May blaze.

It's still a marvel to me how Mrs. Jennie Tessmann does all the things she sets out to do, and still has all that energy. Right now, she has a pretty little place in Blue Bird canyon, down Laguna way, where she has been staying since summer session at the local jaysee adjourned. She will be back after Labor Day, to impart more learning to new studies.

It may be a vacation to stay three weeks at Arrowhead in the month of July, but when you come home and have to start thinking about sending a daughter back to school, the spirit of the season begins to pall. Anyway, that is what Jess Rapp feels about now. Patty, Kappa at Indiana U., will leave for the east in a couple of weeks for her last year of higher learning, and the burden of "what to wear" seems to be falling on mother's shoulders, for Patty is busy these days and nights going here, there, and yon.

There was an excited "whoosh" in the office the other day, when Donald (Whose Gotta) Button came in with a grin a mile wide. It seems that he had just sold Barse Miller's "Strawstacks" to Mrs. Clarence Greenleaf White, of Redlands and Balboa Island. Don has been asked to submit Christmas decoration plans to the Sunset magazine, although it hardly seems just the right temperature to discuss Santa Claus yet. By the way, did you ever hear the cute nick-name attached to Marjorie Button? It's Q-Taza.

It seems that one doesn't have to stay in California to experience those little earth waves that we get now and then. (Geologists call them earthquakes, but the state chamber of commerce doesn't.) Hubert "Doc" Nall was in the middle of things when a good shake played havoc down in Ecuador just recently. It took a cablegram to reassure his parents that things were right as rain. Doc is visiting with friends in the South American country, and will return soon to resume book larnin' at U. S. C., his father's alma mater.

Hollywood bowl fans will be disappointed to learn that the long-heralded Kirsten Flagstad songfest will not be held on Wednesday as announced, but will be postponed until Friday evening. So make your plans accordingly.

It looked like Santa Ana night down Balboa way last Saturday, for among the seething out-of-towners we saw lots of local folk, all cool and summery looking in smart togs. Among those present were Ed and Eleanor Farnsworth, wandering around with blonde Margaret and Ed Hall. Then later saw Dr. Larry Rossiter, with the same cheerful grin characteristic of him. Dot Spicer looked very pretty in a smart fall outfit, one of the first todate. There were lots of others, too, some finding the shooting gallery a great source of amusement, not to mention the great globs of grease the guns get on Palm Beach suits.

It's past history, she said, when I called her about the grand vacation spent up at Big Bear. But anyway, Yetive Blank, Barbara Crawford, Lucille Cook and Marian Brownridge took time off from various duties and went to the lake resort, where they enjoyed (?) thunder storms and a general good time. Yetive and Barbara were handed their teacher's credentials this June when they graduated from U. C. L. A., and will instill some of their knowledge to grade kiddies comes fall.

Saw Junior Ebell Prexy Betty Smith briskly stepping down the street yesterday just like any working girl, and found out she's deep in politics, working at the "Hatfield - for - Governor" headquarters.

Dee (Dorothy) Harvey dropped in to see us this morning, looking fresh as a daisy in her cool print and extremely becoming picture hat. She's just back from a visit with her parents in San Diego, and she and Harold are busily putting their heads together, planning that vacation which will roll around in another week.

Enough is enough and maybe too much, but I hear we're to be given another chance, so Chat Awhile with Caro and Miriam again next Saturday. Until then—Happy Week-end!

Colorful Tea Held At Club

One of the most successful and cleverly arranged affairs of the season was the bridge tea given yesterday at the Santa Ana country club. Mrs. Emil Wagner was in charge of decorations, which transformed the rooms into an Hawaiian vacation beach scene, complete in detail even to a small monkey perched in a palm tree.

A grass hut with a hula dancer and musician in front of it, stood on one side of the room, with a huge mirror and sand forming a beach. Across from these, beach umbrellas, and a couple, playing beach-ball, gave the impression of a pleasant vacation time. Yellow, orange, and red cannas were used profusely around the rooms, with zinnias, in the same colors, placed conspicuously. Carrying out the motif further, a tapa cloth covered a huge desk, upon which rested an out-rigger canoe.

The solarium, in which luncheon was served for thirty-four, was made gay with red hibiscus in flat bowls on the long center table, where the guests were seated. Following this, fourteen tables of bridges were in play for the afternoon. Clever tallies, each with a lei, marked places. O. C. Dean was winner of the guest prize, with Mrs. Albert Harvey and Mrs. J. B. Price receiving awards.

Tea time was announced by little Linda Huber, dressed as a hula dancer, as she stood before tall screens. These were parted, displaying a beautifully appointed table, where Mrs. R. A. Emison and Mrs. A. G. Flagg poured. Hawaiian melodies were played throughout the hour by James Carlyle and Donald McCune.

Tapa cloths and other ornaments were loaned for the afternoon by Mrs. William Eaves, Mrs. W. D. Ranney, and Mrs. Roy Langley. Another interesting feature of the day occurred when the newly upholstered furniture arrived in the morning, just in time to be arranged by Mrs. Wagner for the tea.

SHOWER HONORS SEPTEMBER BRIDE-ELECT

Decrated with a great variety of flowers, the spacious home of Mrs. J. P. Bandfield, 820 East St. Andrews place was setting Wednesday for a miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Helen Hunsaker. Miss Hunsaker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hunsaker, and will become the bride of James Stone of Trabuco canyon in Early September.

Mrs. Bandfield was assisted by her daughters, June and Emma Jean, in planning a series of interesting games for the afternoon. Prizes were awarded Mrs. Leslie Truman, Mrs. T. R. Visse and Mrs. Henry Turnbaugh. The honoree was then seated on the floor, surrounded by heaps of interesting looking packages which she had the pleasure of opening and claiming. Delicious refreshments of graham cracker roll topped with whipped cream were served with iced tea.

Present with Mrs. Bandfield and Emma Jean and June, were the honoree, Miss Hunsaker, her mother, Mrs. W. S. Hunsaker, and Mesdames T. R. Visse, Fred W. Liska, Nellie O. Brough, Leslie Truman, W. Oscar Wilson, L. W. Westphal, Isabel Howland, Henry Turnbaugh, Robert Graves, A. G. Bandfield, George W. Knowles, Orin Welch, M. E. Ward, W. A. Marymee, Walter Kennedy, F. W. Sanford, S. L. Jones, all of Santa Ana, Clinton C. Armstrong and Florence Ehrler of Tustin, Kenneth Johnson, Joe Hindsly, and Clarence Johnson, Costa Mesa; Charles F. Holmes and Carrie Jeffrey of Newport.

PAY UP OR GO TO JAIL, THAT'S COURT'S RULING

Smarting under a verbal lashing from Superior Judge James L. Allen, James A. Pease of Los Angeles today was under orders to appear in court next Friday with back payments made up on an old auto crash bill—or to be sent to jail.

Pease was arrested on drunk driving charges in 1934, after his car had collided with an auto driven by Durward L. Robertson of Los Angeles. He was granted probation on condition he make regular payments toward a $2080.65 damage claim. Yesterday he appeared in court and said his payments were not up to date.

"You're the only man out of 85 here who's been violating his probation," said the judge. "I'm not going to stand for it. I'm not going to fool around with you. I'll continue this one week and you be prepared to make all those payments or I'm going to cancel your probation."

Will Help You With Your Clothes Problem. Write Her!

When the name of Gertrude Lawrence is mentioned there is more than a rush from the theater critics! Socialites begin to polish up the drawingroom floors and think about trick menus, and fashionists simply rush out en masse to even get a peek. I was lucky enough to be received in her rose-fitted suite.

She whisked into the room with an irrepressible excitement almost carrying her on air, and her eyes were as sparkly as a youngster's out on a bit of adventure.

She wore lounging pajamas, brilliantly printed in wee travel labels such as the smart steamship lines of the world stick on baggage! "I just picked these up for $16.75. If you have taste you don't have to go to the most exclusive dressmakers. That is just extravagance! Besides, it is fun to work things out for yourself," she confided. Not that economy plays any noticeable part in her life, but she enjoys the idea when she has time.

Hair? Of course she wears her hair with smart high curls where smart and high curls should be worn. "But I change my hair in every scene in my play. It always outrages me when the program reads "three months later" and yet the actress' hair looks as if a comb hadn't even been put through it. Because you know a woman can't go three months without playing with her hair to the distress of her sweetheart or her husband, I'll admit. Aren't men always saying, "Why don't you leave your hair alone?"

Hattie Carnegie usually does her clothes because she is handy and clever and keeps the best imports at her finger tips. "I never wear afternoon clothes — and I never have a decollete evening gown. Everything I wear has little sleeves. I can't bear to see a man's hand upon a woman's bare back while dancing. Besides, they feel smarter to me upon practically all occasions these days." So when I mentioned little jackets, she gestured with delight and laughed, "I have all sorts—and adore them!"

BREA ESTATE VALUED $500

The late Harry Ray, pioneer Brea businessman and community leader who died July 26, left a personal estate worth $500.

That was the estimate today as Public Administrator Earl Abbey petitioned superior court for letters of administration in the estate. A will, dated March 12, 1925, was included with the petition. Harold Stern of Los Angeles, named executor in the will, declined to act.

Only asset of the estate, according to Abbey's petition, is a mercantile business worth $500.

The 13-year-old will left the entire property to Mr. Ray's mother, since deceased. Under its terms, the estate now is to be divided among Dr. Stewart Schloss, Mrs. Arthur Bowman and Elice Schloss, children of a deceased sister, Mrs. Rose Schloss; and Joseph S. Ray, another nephew, who lives in Los Angeles.

Prisoners, Too, May Vote, Announces Attorney General

A week from Tuesday is election day—and you can vote whether you're in jail or not, Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton ruled today.

Atty. Gen. U. S. Webb recently ruled that county jail prisoners, unless they are under sentence to penitentiaries for felonies—in which case they lose their right to vote—may cast ballots.

"The prisoners, if they are registered voters, may cast absentee ballots just the same as patients in hospitals," Menton said today.

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—The grape prorate program committee has selected C. J. Carey, state department of agriculture official, to administer the 1938 marketing control program.

Carey, who is chief of the division of market enforcement of the California department of agriculture, was offered the appointment last night by a unanimous vote. He accepted immediately.

The committee announced that A. A. Brock, director of agriculture, had agreed to the loan of Carey's services on a leave of absence basis for six months, the period of his appointment.

SALES CLINIC TO OPEN HERE

Under sponsorship of the chamber of commerce, a five-week course in merchandising will be held in the Santa Ana Junior college hall starting next Tuesday.

The course, a "Merchandising Clinic," will be conducted each Tuesday night for five weeks by George M. Irving, Los Angeles sales counselor, who claims the indorsement of numerous nationally-known corporations whose salesmen he has trained.

Santa Ana merchants and their sales staffs will be eligible to attend the five lectures for a nominal admission price, Irving said today.

The clinic was arranged through the chamber of commerce on suggestion of J. C. Horton, local furniture dealer.

Tuesday's meeting starts at 7:30 p. m.

300 Jittery When Untrained Boy, 17, Steals Plane Ride

TROY, Ohio. (AP)—Eugene Netzley drew up for the department of commerce today a report explaining how his 17-year-old brother, Truman, kept the 300 citizens of nearby Leura on edge for an hour and a half yesterday with an all of a sudden plane flight.

Truman, who never had a flight lesson, got Eugene's second-hand and warmed it up. He told playmonoplane out of the Netzley barn mates he just "wanted to taxi around the pasture."

The next thing they knew, Truman was in the air wondering how to get down.

Finally he made a perfect landing in another pasture.

Firemen Pack Tools To 47th Floor

CHICAGO. (AP)—A fire in the elevator shaft of the one North La Salle street building did little damage early today but nearly exhausted the firemen. The fire fighters had to climb 47 stories with their equipment to reach the scene of the blaze because of the breakdown of elevator service.

Haight just completed a state-wide tour.

ECKEL BLOCKS WAHLBERG IN BUILDING SUIT

Leslie H. Eckel, cheif deputy county auditor, today had won his court fight to keep H. C. Wahlberg, Santa Ana insurance man, from building a new home less than six feet from Eckel's property line on North Freeman street.

He also held a superior court injunction, prohibiting Wahlberg from building a six-foot "spite fence" along the property line.

Superior Judge V. N. Thompson of Imperial county, sitting here for Superior Judge H. G. Ames, so ruled today in handing down a decision on the suit, which had been submitted Wednesday.

Judge Thompson ruled that while a majority of property owners in the Freeman street tract, including Eckel himself, had violated deed restrictions by small or large margins, still the restrictions were enforceable because several lots still are not built on; and a decision denying the injunction might possibly cause wholesale disregarding of the restrictions.

Eckel sued Wahlberg, Mrs. Kathleen Wahlberg, Contractor Nylin P. Hurd, and the Bank of America, charging Wahlberg and the other respondents were about to build a house which came within three feet of Eckel's lot boundary. He was represented by Lew Blodget; attorneys for the respondents were R. C. Mize and R. M. Crookshank.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

In the neighborhood of 1000 people were assembled in Birch park in Santa Ana last Thursday evening to hear Sheridan Downey, Democratic party candidate for the United States senate. Pierson Hall, former Uinted States district attorney and now campaign manager for the senatorial candidate in Southern California, also delivered a well received address following Downey's talk.

The platform was well sprinkled with a collection of candidates for local public office who were introduced by Chester Dale, Orange county campaign manager for Downey. J. H. Walsh, well-known Townsend leader, called the meeting to order and introduced the genial Senator Harry C. Westover who acted during thet evening as the master of ceremonies.

Westover prepared his presentation of the Democratic party aspirant to the U. S. senate with remarks relating to his association with the Townsend movement and received applause when he complimented the Townsendites because of their custom to open Townsend meetings with a prayer and a salute and pledge of loyalty to the flag of the nation. As Mr. Downey was scheduled to address another gathering in Los Angeles the same evening, the preliminaries were brief before his presentation.

The audience was composed of members of several organizations who are interested in the candidate being the one to win the nomination on the Democratic and Townsend party tickets as a candidate for the U. S. senate. Chief among the organizations represented were members of the Democratic party. It was interesting to note and study the combination of forces which were present and gave evidence of backing the senatorial candidate's candidacy.

The candidate during his 45-minute address, impressed himself favorably upon his large audience as was indicated by the applause freely given him at various times. His evident sincerity of interest in the plight of the people, suffering from want in a nation with the potentialities of power for the production of plenty was heartening in coming from a candidate to such a high office as he is seeking. He predicted that the nation would eventually find a highway over which to travel away from the present misery into an era of plenty for all. It was evident that he believed the Townsend plan was such a highway and he promised if elected as senator to use his influence to enact into law if possible the principles of the H. R. 4199 bill now before the congress and commonly known as the Townsend bill.

Touching upon the capabilities of the nation to produce wealth and citing the fact that in 1937 in the neighborhood of 65 billions of such wealth was produced and that inherent was the power to produce another sum of wealth equal in value to that which had been produced, he pointed out the fact of the United States having the power to give to the elderly the generous annuities of the Townsend plan. Likewise he described California as in the process of restricting the production of wealth instead of arranging for its distribution and deprecated such an attitude. In this connection he drove home the fact of his belief that the Townsend plan was a sane, national recovery plan designed and capable of redeeming the people as a whole.

In referring to unemployment, he voiced the opinion that instead of there being from 10 to 12 million of unemployed in the nation as commonly given out in the newspapers and through other sources that there is in reality nearly 20 million of such unemployed. This he characterized as a shame and a disgrace to so wealthy a nation.

He closed his address with an eloquent appeal for his support as a candidate to the United States senate on the part of all those who were anxious to have in that body a member from California who was interested in promoting the life of abundance for the people. He was heartily applauded as he retired.

Senator Westover then presented Pierson Hall, campaign manager for Downey, who won the audience to a feeling of warmth toward himself and his candidate almost immediately. His candid, calm and at the same time appealing analysis of the situation as existing between Sheridan Downey and William Gibbs McAdoo as opposing candidates for the office of the United States senate undoubtedly was helpful to the former's candidacy.

He spoke of the handicaps being suffered in his campaign efforts in behalf of Downey because of a lack of funds for the buying of proper publicity in the way of both radio and newspaper space and pointed out the need of everyone who was interested, in doing a great amount of personal and precinct work if success was desired. He predicted the defeat of Senator McAdoo and the success of Sheridan Downey in the primary election on Aug. 30.

He closed his address with a compliment to the Townsend forces for the spirit with which they saluted the flag in their meetings and said: "I wish you God speed and I hope you will work like h—l to make Mr. Downey your servant in Washington after the coming election.

Addressing university students in Wales Lord Baldwin said "when learning becomes prosciuted to politics there are no depths to which it cannot descend.

HOW TO WIN CUSTOMERS and Influence People

Newspaper reading begins in childhood, when parents "read the funnies" to their children, and continues on through life as one of our most persistent daily habits. Little wonder, then, that newspapers influence people.

The intense interest of newspaper readers in local and telegraph news, in picture pages, sports, comics, editorials, and advertising, provides advertisers with their greatest opportunity to win the attention of prospects, to convert them into customers and friends.

With newspaper advertising you can command the attention of every "able-to-read" member of the family, of nearly every "able-to-buy" family in your trading territory.

Use this newspaper to win new customers and to influence people favorably toward the commodities and services you have for sale.

YOUNG'S NINE COPS; PHOEBE MILLER STARS

Their brief hold on first place in the Major Girls' Softball league standings knocked loose by Young's Market, 3 to 2, last night, Orange's Lionettes, a bit shaken by their recent hitting slump, dropped into a three-way deadlock for the place today.

Young's first-half champions, now lead the six-team circuit by half a game. The Lionettes, with five games to play in the next two weeks, two with PepsiCola, two Columbia and one with Bank of America—can climb back into first place if they can shake their batting jinx.

Phoebe Miller added two more to her runs-driven-in total when she whacked out a triple to right-field with Ruth Lee and Margaret Mast ahead of her in the first inning. After that, Louise Embree halted the Lionettes with two scattered hits—both by Lee and Miller.

Young's collected one in the third on Wanda Macha's walk, an infield out and Decker's scratch Texas leaguer to right. They tied the game in the fourth when Gabby Young doubled to left and scored on a fielder's choice and Macha's slow hit to short. Macha's identical blow in the sixth brought Fuller in, after she had doubled, for the winning score. The two clubs are tied 5 to 5 in their season's series.

Out to regain the National Nightball league crown in the shortest time tpossible, Huntington Beach's heavy-hitting Oilers had one game to go today if they are to make it a clean sweep of the four out of seven game series with Anaheim's defending champions.

Manager Joe Rodgers' crew, intent on sweeping the preliminary series, dropped the Valencias three games behind in their series warfare with a 7 to 1 victory behind Ellwynn (Fuzzy) Eerrington's three-hit pitching at Anaheim last night.

STARS REORGANIZE

With Joe Koral, second baseman, returning to the University of California, and definitely lost for the remainder of the season, Manager "Doc" Smith has been forced to revamp his Stars for the fourth game with San Bernardino here Monday night. The new lineup: Smith, ss; Wiemer, lf; Mott, 1b; Short, cf; B. Koral, c; Young, 3b; Lacq, 2b; Richardson, rf, and Jacobsmeyer, p.

With an $81 gate, officials of the two clubs have agreed to play the fourth game at Anaheim next Tuesday. Santa Ana's Stars and San Bernardino hook up here Monday with Santa Ana out to even the series.

Anaheim collected a hit in each of the first and second innings and then ruined Errington's shutout when Randolph Bell singled in the ninth, took second on Pat Osborn's error, third on Al Reboin's error on Gunther's pop fly, and scored on Joe Wallin's infield out.

The Oilers put two runs across in the third on Bob Smith's bunt, Oborne's single to left and Murray's single to right. Kelly's single, Reboin's bunt, Orv Schuchardt's single to center and Rodger's safety on Wiseman's error produced two more in the fifth. Three runs came in in the eighth when Rodgers gained first on error, Smith's single, Errington's sacrifice, two left field singles by Thiery and Osborn, Kelly's walk and Murray's infield out.

DETROIT ACE BRINGS HIS TOTAL TO 41

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

They've plugged up the hole in Hank Greenberg's bat, and the big fellow is firing at Babe Ruth's record again.

For a couple of weeks there, Big Hank might just as well have been batting with a toothpick for all the ground he was picking up in cashing the Babe's all-time mark of 60 homers in one year. His batting average dropped like a rock in a well, and those rosy pictures the boys painted of a new record began to look like the expert predictions after the first Louis-Schmeling fuss.

FIVE IN TWO DAYS

But in the last two days, the St. Louis Browns' pitchers, those obliging cousins to all aspiring batsmen, rolled into Detroit and showed Hank the hole in his stick, through which enemy elbowers were throwing their special tosses. Hank promptly plugged it up, took a hitch to his cap and busted five choice offerings of the Brownie flingers out of the park in two days, to bring his season four-base total to 41.

Three of these round-trip tickets came yesterday as the Tigers clicked for a doubelheader victory, 8-7 and 7-4, and accounted for eight of the 15 Detroit runs.

The net result of Hank's fireworks was to boost him considerably in front of Ruth's record again. His third of the afternoon yesterday came in the Tigers' 109th game of the season (108th if you omit one tie). Ruth didn't clout his 41st in 1927 until his 123rd game, and had only 36 at his 109th.

Thus, Hank is some five up on the Babe, a margin that may turn the trick if he holds it through Sept. 1 and can continue the cannonading through the final month of the season, as Ruth did with his gaudy 17 in Sept. of '27.

The double win yesterday also boosted the Tigers to within a game of fourth place in the American league standings, since Washington's Senators, current holders of that spot, dropped a 4-3 tenning decision to the Boston Red Sox. Jimmy Foxx, that other homerun specialist, whacked his 33rd in that engagement.

YANKEES INCREASE LEAD

The league-leading Yankees, however, weren't bothering much about such lowly spots as third and fourth place, for they whipped the Athletics, 5-2, on Spud Chandler's six-hit pitching, to climb ten games in front in the junior circuit race. The second place Cleveland Indians (remember them?) were soundly thumped, 7-2, by the Chicago White Sox.

With the National league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates idle, the Giants took advantage of the opportunity to pick up half-a-game by belting the Phillies 4-2, on Jimmy Ripple's homer. This left Bill Terry's outfit a 4½ games off the pace. Brooklyn's Dodgers nipped the Boston Bees 1-0, in an 11-inning night tilt in the only other scheduled National league game, to climb into a tie for fifth place. Fred Frankhouse tossed a three-hitter to top the Bees.

HUBBELL SEES SPECIALIST

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Ailing Carl Hubbell, the New York Giants' master lefthander, arrived here by plane early today to see a specialist about his crippled pitching arm.

In seemingly good spirits, he joked with reporters at the airport and announced he would be examined later in the day by Dr. Justin Spencer Speed, bone specialist.

Hubbell reiterated previous statements that his arm hurt him olny while pitching—a sharp pain on the inside of his left elbow.

Asked if his famed "screwball" had anything to do with his injury, he replied:

"Yes, you bet it has—after 16 years of pitching it."

The ace southpaw, who has pitched 11 years in the big time, said he never before had seen a physician about his arm, though he has taken electric heat treatments from time to time.

557 Yearlings In $1,304,500 Saratoga Sale

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP)—Saratoga's yearling sales are known as the place to spend a lot of money for a horse that may be a "bust" as a racer or pick up a winner for a few hundred dollars. But last night at a sale of 32 head of horses in training, two older colts which may turn out to be bargains went under the hammer.

They brought the highest prices of the night that wound up the year's sales after 557 yearlings had been disposed of for $1,304,500, an average price of $2342 per head.

Mrs. E. Graham Lewis, bidding through her trainer, Henry Lustig, bought both of the top-price horses. From the W. H. Laboytaux consignment she purchased Pagliacci, a 3-year-old son of Caruso-Caricature for $9300. This colt ran six furlongs in 1:11 1-5 to win a class "C" handicap and as a result the bidding was brisk.

The second highest price was the $6200 Mrs. Lewis paid for Generalis, a 2-year-old son of Pompey-Flora Mary, which never has raced. He is a good looking colt, though, and his former owner, Mrs. C. Oliver Iselin, thought enough of him to nominate him for the 1939 Belmont, Lawrence Realization and Withers stakes.

Mrs. Iselin, disposing of all her stable except Strabo, which trainer, Roy Waldron, has taken under lease, sold ten head for $13,975. The Laboyteaux consignment of 10 head brought $28,100. The 32 head went for $55,325, an average of $1729.

Trio Favored In Canadian Open

TORONTO. (AP)—Barring a repetition of yesterday's sudden ups and downs, Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and "Light Horse" Harry Cooper of Chicago, the defending champion, were to fight it out over the final 36 holes today for the Canadain Open golf championship.

Yesterday Runyan and Snead piled 67's on top of their scores of 69 for the opening round and tied for the lead at 136. Cooper, who started with a 71, fired a second round 66 to equal the course record at Missiauga and trailed by one stroke.

Former Middleweight Champ Admires Son

Freddie Steele, former middleweight champion, is shown at Seattle as he admired the tiny hands of his new born son, as Mrs. Steele proudly watches. The baby was born Wednesday.

Cecil Travis Back In Hitting Lead

NEW YORK. (AP)—Keeping step with the dizzy developments of the big league pennant races, the rival batting derbies are offering the folks one surprise after another.

Cecil Travis, the Washington shortstop who didn't figure in the American league clouting circus for most of the first half of the season, then caught up with the leaders last week, now has taken the pace all by himself with a .349 batting average. He hit safely ten times in 26 chances this week to boost his average three points and finish in front of Jimmy Foxx of Boston, who had .346.

BUDGE TAKES NET TITLE

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — Don Budge completed his first American singles competition since his successful European invasion today by retiring the Newport Casino tennis bowl with a 6-3, 6-3, 6-2 victory over Sydney Wood of New York. Budge won here in 1935 and last year.

This final between those Wimbledon winners was far more exciting and much closer than the one-sided scores indicated. Budge won in straight sets because he was able to strip the brilliant Wood of half of his best shots by keeping him beyond the baselines during most of the match. The few times Wood could get to the net, he generally out-rallied the international champion by winding up with a successful drop or passing shot.

Team Wrestling Is Booked Here

Promoter M. J. (Bud) Levin announced today that another team match would head the wrestling card at the Orange County Athletic club next Thursday night, with Tony Morelli and Yukon Jake on opposite sides. Jake will be teamed with Dude Chick, junior heavyweight champion, and Morelli will team with Paul Murdock.

U. S. ANNEXES TRACK MEET

VIENNA. (AP)—Bill Watson, the husky University of Michigan all-around track and field star, hasn't looked so good competing against Germany's Olympic aces in the weight events, but he dazzled 2000 Viennese fans when he ran into some ordinary competition.

Watson won three events in yesterday's meet in which the touring United States tracksters took 10 out of 11 events from local talent. He broadjumped 24 feet 4½ inches, threw the discus 153 feet 6 13/64 inches and put the shot 51 feet 5 21/64 inches.

The pole vault, however, proved even more exciting to the fans that Watson's feats as Cornelius Warmerdam of San Francisco sailed over the bar at 14 feet 1 inch. Haunzwickel of Vienna could do no better than 12 feet 5½ inches.

Americans ran one-two in two events as Charley Beetham of Columbus, O., beat his former Ohio State teammate, Harley Howells, 800 meters in 2:00.8 and Fred Wolcott and Jack Patterson, both of Rice Institute, showed the way in the 110-meter high hurdles.

Howells took the 400 meters, Patterson the 400-meter hurdles and Mozel Ellerbe of Tuskegee the 100-meter dash for the other American individual victories. Then a United States relay team of Watson, Beetham, Wolcott and Ellerbe gave its Viennese rivals a 70-yard handicap and beat them in an 800-meter relay in 1:27.

The only local victory was scored by Muschik, who took the 5000 meters in 15:32.

College Grid Aces Go Through Second Drill In Chicago

CHICAGO. (AP)—The college all-star gridders stepped through their second intra-squad game of training today in preparation for their Aug. 31 date with the professional Washington Redskins.

The skirmish followed yesterday's two-hour passing scrimmage led by Cecil Isbell, Purdue, and Jack Robbins, Arkansas, and in which Isbell in particular gave a demonstrations of effectiveness in connecting with receivers.

In the Wahington camp at Ballston, Va., yesterday, the Redskins also held a scrimmage with two rookies surprising the veterans with a pass and the only touchdown of the workout. Hal Bradley, lanky end from Elon college took the throw from George Karamatic and ran 40 yards for the score. Sammy Baugh confined his efforts almost entirely to rehearsing a few running plays, but throughout it has been evident the Redskins will count on Baugh and his passes against the All Stars.

FIGHTS

SAN FRANCISCO. — George Laka, 135, San Jose, Cal., outpointed Jimmy Vaughn, 137, Cleveland (10).

FISHERMEN'S LUCK GOOD

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Fly fishermen came back into their own this week with streams in the High Sierra mountains becoming clear again. Deep sea fishing, except at San Diego, was spotty.

Packers reported lake and stream fishing in the back country was increasingly good with trout taking Royal Coachman, Black Gnat, Gray Hackle and Silver Doctor flies. Those who used salmon eggs and worms also continued to take good catches.

In the Bishop district best catches were reported in the higher lakes.

While deep sea anglers were only fairly successful in Catalina and Santa Monica bay waters fishing picked up off San Clemente islands. The Sea Angler with 29 passengers, brought in 50 yellowtail and 18 tuna Thursday—and the yellows were the biggest of the season.

There were plenty of tuna running off Catalina this week, but for the most part they showed no inclination to take live bait. Long Beach boats were only fairly successful during the week.

Newport-Balboa boats also reported barracuda and bass in good quantities. Surf fishing Oceanside way was poor because of much loose kelp in the waters but several good corbina catches were reported.

ANGELS, SOLONS BOTH UPSET

By the Associated Press

Los Angeles and Sacramento were like anchored balloons—neither able to make headway—today in their race for top of the Pacific coast league standings.

The anchors were the San Diego Padres, who defeated Los Angeles 7 to 3 last night, and Seattle's 7 to 3 last night, and Se-0 over Sacramento. The results left Sacramento still 3½ games behind the Angels.

San Francisco split a doubleheader with Portland, taking the first game 3 to 2 but dropping the second, 2 to 1.

Johnny Babich fanned 10 Oakland players as Hollywood clubbed out a 4 to 1 win over bottom-place Oaks.

Hal Turpin, the "nothing ball" hurler from Yoncalla, Ore., beat Southpaw Bill Walker in a pitching duel as Seattle made it three straight over Sacramento and edged up to within half a game of third place San Francisco.

Koegler Returns

Joe Koegler, above, Santa Ana High school basketball and baseball coach, has just returned from Washington State college, where he took six weeks of study in basketball and football. He assists Coach Bill Foote with the Saint grid varsity.

VENTURA, SANTA ANA ELKS MIX

Making fast headway in the Southern California B. P. O. E. softball league, Manager Darwin Scott's Santa Ana Elks travel to Santa Paula for a game with Ventura tonight, with the winner scheduled to meet El Centro's Antlers next week for the first half elimination title.

Bruce Harnois will be on the hill and Bob Mott on first base. "Doc" Smith also will play for the Santa Ana lodge.

Register Printers Nip Journal, 10-7

Printers of The Register defeated the Santa Ana Journal printers, 10 to 7, in their annual softball game at Santiago Park last night. The winners put on four and five-run rallies.

LITTLE LORD FAUNTLEROY

Used by doting mothers as a shining example of what a little gentleman should be like, Little Lord Fauntleroy, famous character created by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, epitomized instead everything "sissified" to the average small boy.

The story first appeared in the Saint Nicholas magazine in 1835, and Mrs. Burnett claimed that her son, Vivian, had given her inspiration for the character, in an article which was published years later.

Vivian was at the time an undergraduate at Harvard, so he went out for all the strenuous athletics to prove that he was "no sissy." He made the track team at Harvard.

After graduating, he went to Denver, Colo., and became a newspaperman; in Denver's earlier days a newspaperman was "no sissy." Later, Burnett came to realize the fine sentiments in his mother's great novel.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK. (AP) — Further faint rallying signs were present in today's stock market but rising vigor was lacking in most departments.

Motors, steels, rubbers and a few rails responded to quiet bidding with advances of fractions to around a point at the best, but these were down from the top at the close.

It was one of the slowest sessions in more than two months, with the 2-hour turnover approximately only 300,000 shares.

Continuance of moderately bright business prospects, brokers said, was the main buoying influence for the list. In some quarters, though, it was felt that an unusually strong recovery in the United States would be necessary to offset conditions abroad and turn the recessionary tide in several foreign countries.

European war tension, still in evidence overseas, as the result of extensive German military maneuvers, seemed to inspire cautionary attitude among speculative contingents.

Part of the day's apathy was attributed to the decision of many commission house customers to get a head start on their holiday. Others were inclined to keep commitments at a minimum over the week-end.

In many cases best quotations for the brief proceedings were established in the first hour. After a dip, there was another upturn near the beginning of the final period. Scantiness of volume on the come-back brought in some profit taking at the last.

Weekly Citrus Review

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—California oranges were about steady to slightly lower in spots, and lemons were higher at eastern and middle western auction centers this week.

Oranges brought an average of $3.09 per box this week, two cents less than last week, as sales decreased 79 cars to a total of 656 cars.

Lemons brought an average of $4.54 per box this week, 23 cents more than last week, as sales decreased six cars to a total of 264 cars.

The California-Arizona orange and grapefruit marketing agency announced the following prorate for next week: To be shipped interstate: 1475 cars of valencias from Southern California; intrastate: 175 cars from Southern California. Diversion allotment was 4500 tons for the week.

In Pacific coast markets oranges were in light to fair demand with the market steady. Lemons were in fair demand with the market steady.

A. E. Prugh, local representative of the Federal-State Market News service, in commenting on Pacific coast markets for the week, said:

"Demand on oranges was slower and the market steady at Portland. Average prices received per box: valencias 200s and larger $3.00-3.40. Smaller sizes $2.75. The lemon market was slightly weaker. 300s to 360s, $5.00 to $5.25.

"Supplies were moderate, demand light, and the orange market firm at Seattle. Fancy valencias 126s to 176s, $3.10 to $3.50. 200s to 252s, $2.65 to $3.35. Lemons were in moderat demand with the market steady. Fancy 300s to 360s, $4.75 to $5.00.

"Supplies were liberal, demand fair, and the orange market steady at San Francisco. Valencias 150s and larger, $2.50 to $2.75, some $3.00. Lemon supplies were moderate, demand fair, and the market steady. California boxes 588s and larger, $4.25 to $5.00.

"Oranges were in fair demand with the market steady at Los Angeles. Fancy valencias 100s to 200s, $2.25 to $2.50. Lemons in fair demand with the market steady. Local fancys 300s to 360s, $4.00 to $4.25."

The California Fruit Growers exchange sales department reported the average price and volume of sales on valencias about unchanged for the week. The exchange reported:

"Advances on large sizes were offset by lower prices on small fruit on which the bottom has been apparently reached.

"Demand is good and there is every reason to believe that the present valencia market can be maintained.

"Grapefruit prices continued quite satisfactorily with supplies growing lighter and a good clean-up in prospect.

"The lemon market is steady with demand good and sales equal to the previous week, and above comparable weeks of recent years."

Day by day auction averages per box were as follows:

'RADIUM HOUND' HANDY GADGET

By WATSON DAVIS
Director, Science Service

You probably have not met a "radium hound" but he is a valuable creature, with a very scientific ability at playing "needle in the haystack" to the tune of thousands of dollars. He is in a class with divining rods. Who named him is not known and fortunately his pointing abilities are not frequently required.

Born in the physics laboratory, the "radium hound" is not a dog but an instrument, either the electroscope or the Geiger-Muller counter, both of which are affected by the gamma radiation given off by radium.

Radium is precious stuff and when it is used in the treatment of cancer and other diseases it is sometimes lost. The amount used is so small and seemingly insignificant that patients often can not be made to realize its value. A hundred milligrams in the form of a salt occupies the space of about a quarter inch of pencil lead. In former days this small amount cost $12,000, and while the price of radium has been reduced materially a heavy investment is still necessary.

Dr. Robert B. Taft, of Charleston, S. C., has compiled amusing anecdotes and statistics on radium losses and methods of recovery. There are 107 records of losses with 59 complete and 11 partial recoveries.

In one case Dr. Taft found some radium that had been on a dump for several weeks. In another case he saved an innocent man from going to jail on circumstantial evidence of radium theft. When the radium was located with the "radium hound" instrument, he was absolved, which Dr. Taft considered worth

Tip for Dr. Ley

Another fallacy, this one inconsequential and lightly humorous in its aspects, has crept into the reasoning of Herr Hitler's general staff. Dr. Robert Ley, leader of the German labor front, was effervescing over the wonders of the new volksauto, or people's automobile, which his strength-through-joy organization hopes each German family will acquire.

"We hope," hoped Dr. Ley, "that the people's car will even raise the German birth rate by encouraging German families to have four or five children to fill it."

Speaking just as a good neighbor, Doctor, and with not the slightest desire to belittle the volksauto project, America can tell you something about results along the line you mention.

The people's car will not boost the birth rate (at least it hasn't here, and America has achieved the greatest progress in the matter of personally-owned and operated transportation). Also, those empty car seats you mention won't be empty enough of the time to provide much of a lure for additional little blessings. When the seats are not filled with relatives, out-of-town guests or neighbors' kids, they'll be occupied by overcoats, skis, bathing suits, picnic hampers, canarybird cages and whatnot. Yes, even though there's a baggage compartment in the rear as big as a moving van.

'Everything Went Wrong Today!'

The tragic yet comic troubles of Allen Drew of Farmington, N. H., brings a sympathetic sigh from us. Brother Drew had five petty accidents within five days, wrenching, spraining or bruising his various arms, legs, and neck so often that he finally went to bed in nervous exhaustion, wondering what was going to happen next.

We can sympathize, because so many of us have experienced similar troubles.

Sometimes it's a series of traffic tickets, other times a succession of minor injuries. Often it is unfortunate events of real importance that follow one another.

We've probably all experienced this phenomenon of repeated disasters in our daily lives, and at the end of the cycle we sigh wearily and murmur, "How long is this going on?"

We suggest that some scientist with plenty of time on his hands make a study of the law of probabilities and find the reason for this principle of the "jinx."

If he finds the solution—and the cure—he'll receive hosannas from the tired housewife who flops down in a chair when her husband comes home and wails, "Just EVERYTHING went wrong at home here today!"

Man-sized job. Insult leaves $1000 and orders his executor to pay all his debts, which are 14 million dollars or more.

Money Goes Begging

Almost anyone who has a demonstrably workable idea in his kit these days can get it financed. Money is readily available to individuals and companies whose records justify confidence.

The Federal Reserve board has just reported that the amount of lendable money in the nation's banks remains unchanged at $2,920,000,000.

Interest rates are low, and the dealers in money to loan would like to see their commodity at work and bringing in returns.

Although the opportunity for legitimate borrowing for practicable and constructive ventures is especially good right now, the crackpot plan and the rash and improvident individual will get, as usual, one of the ciphers from the great store of available working capital.

That Siberian border warfare was quite important—to a lot of Russ and Japanese widows and orphans.

Some Sanity, Please!

From Atlantic Monthly via Reader's Digest comes a booklover's lament that The Journal okays and passes along. We, too, are more than slightly fed up with novelistic "realism" which shows almost every human being and family of human beings as perverted, depraved and murderous.

Writes Howard Mumford Jones: ". . . I think one of the most exciting things that could happen in American literature would be a sit-down strike among novel readers, protesting against this interminable procession of weak and cowardly men, strong and brutal men, oversexed women, undersexed women, frustrated children, bewildered parents, hopeless farmers and greedy overlords. I have had my fill of cruelty, rape, seduction, incest, lynching, murder and general hellishness. I long to be introduced to a cultured human being in a story, to enter an ordinary home, to read some merely civilized conversation."

Aye, my friend, and so say a lot of us. The motion is seconded. Are you ready for the question?

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK.—While we were waiting for Jimmy Roosevelt to drop that other shoe there can be no harm in observing that, although the title of his piece is "I'm Glad You Asked Me," the question was put to the little eagle of the dynasty just about a year ago. It was put by Congressman Treadway—a republican, to be sure, and thus a man of little standing in the eaglet's kingdom of Massachusetts—in a carefully prepared statement delivered on the floor of the house.

Congressman Treadway on Aug. 14 last year reported to the house that he had been thwarted in an attempt to compel the joint committee on tax avoidance to analyze the eaglet's returns. He said that Jimmy did appear before the committee but that when he, Treadway, asked him some questions he was choked off. And, although Jimmy's tax return was offered for scrutiny, the committee voted down Treadway's request an impartial expert be called to analyze it. He added that anyone with experience knows that it takes an expert to make anything out of such documents.

The committee was the one which went to town on the president's charge that many individuals, mainly royalists and copperheads, had used devices to evade and avoid their taxes.

Incidentally, Jimmy himself, admits that he split with his wife his interest in his insurance firm, thus reducing his federal and state taxes—a clever little scheme that his lawyer indorsed as having not only the complexion but the true character of legality. That this was detrimental to the revenue of government seems to need no arguing, but it is a fine question whether it was an attack on the "legitimate" revenues of government and thus on the foundations of society.

Alva Johnson and The Saturday Evening Post have been jabbed with the finger of scorn for putting a question which Jimmy says he is glad they asked, and there have been some murmurs of dirty journalism as well. But, bless, you, neither Mr. Johnson nor The Post asked the question first.

WHY ANY LIMIT?

Once it was proposed in California to issue old age pensions to those who passed the age of 70. But there were a lot of voters between 65 and 70 and so we saw the movement widen to include all those who had reached the latter period of life. But when the politicians considered again they found a very sizeable block of electors between the ages of 60 and 65 and so again we had agitation in favor of decreasing the age limit of the beneficiaries of the state pension system. Now we are told that a million people have signed petitions in behalf of legislation which would bring within the scope of a new law those who have passed 50 years. We have another slogan that "life begins then and that every Thursday there will be $30 for the beneficiaries of the latest pension plan."

The reader will not fail to observe that as the number of beneficiaries of pension movements increase just so do the candidates who endorse pension plans. Believe it or not, we now have aspirants for United States senator, for governor, for lieutenant-governor and for attorney-general who profess themselves champions of the movement to pay over $30 every Thursday to those who have passed the half century mark. Some of them justify their position by the declaration that if a million people sign a petition it surely should become a law. No one of them has offered an analysis of the proposed measure to prove its practicability nor has any one of them sought to disprove the arguments which disclose the absurdity of what is proposed.

But perhaps the end is not yet. If we can safely give $30 every Thursday to those who are past 50, if the theory is sound, why do we stop at 50? Wouldn't it make for more prosperity to give $30 every Thursday to those who have reached the age of 40, and even beyond that? And it would be more alliterative to say that life begins at 30. "$30 every Thursday for those who are 30."

And we are wondering, too, why those who worked out the details of this latest pension plan should have confined themselves to $30 every Thursday. If that is practical for the state it means that out of the abundance of production there is ample for all. Why not $40 every Thursday or $50 every Thursday? That would place the proposed legislation on the same basis as the good old Townsend plan which offered the aged and the near aged $200 a month but which appears to be lost in the argumentative shuffle in favor of the newest pension proposal.—Bakersfield Californian.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—There is an interesting story behind the fact that the president's social security radio speech carried an extra line not given in the advance press release. The story involves the vanity of a lady; to wit, Madame Secretary Perkins, who seldom misses a bet to promote publicity for herself.

Just before the president delivered his radio address commemorating the third anniversary of the social security act, Madama Perkins made it a point to go over to the White House and read the president's speech.

She found in the speech a boost for Senator Wagner of New York and for Representative Davey Lewis of Maryland, the two authors of the bill. Both are campaigning this fall, Wagner for re-election and Lewis for the senate against old deal Senator Tydings. So the president planned to give Lewis, in particular a big hand.

But this did not meet the approval of Miss Perkins. She promptly blue-penciled the chief references to Lewis and Wagner, merely leaving their names in the speech, then sat down and wrote a nice long tribute to herself.

White House Secretary Steve Early, being in awe of the lady, accepted the corrections, and the president, being in a hurry, accepted the speech. Later when he discovered that the Lewis tribute had been left out, he inserted an extra line for Lewis, impromptu, over the radio.

"Monkey Trial" Prosecutor

Few people outside of Tennessee remember that Tom Stewart, who replaces George (Marble) Berry in the senate next year, was chief prosecutor in the famous Scopes "monkey trial" thirteen years ago.

With the late William Jennings Bryan helping him, Stewart convicted the young Dayton, Tenn., school teacher for defying the state law and teaching evolution. The late Clarence Darrow was defense attorney.

Forty-five years old, Stewart has long been active in state politics. He was put into the senatorial race by Senator Kenneth McKellar, with whom Stewart has been closely affiliated politically for many years. Stewart is married and has five children. In his youth he was a crack baseball pitcher and is still an ardent devotee of the game.

Hull vs. Mexico

The diplomatic exchanges between Mexico and the state department have been the cause of considerable apprehension among cabinet members, other than Cordell Hull.

They fear that the president's good neighbor policy, so carefully nurtured for five years, may collapse.

Inside fact is that some difference of opinion exists regarding the Mexican situation even within the state department. Secretary Hull has been wanting to engage in a vigorous note - writing campaign against Mexico, which some of his advisers have opposed.

The note to Mexico limiting the protest to seizure of American agricultural lands was a compromise between the two groups.

Secretary Hull has become so irked at Mexico that it has become almost a personal vendetta. The question has been discussed among other White House advisers and with the president, but the only opinion they have reached is that Secretary Hull has made the issue a personal one and nothing can budge him.

Consumers' Incomes

Some startling findings are contained in the study of consumers' incomes made by Miss Hildegard Kneeland, ace economist of the national resources committee. The survey is the most comprehensive of its kind ever made in the U. S. A.

According to Miss Kneeland there are five general income categories in the country, as follows:

At the bottom—a group of 8,000,000 families "continually facing starvation."

Next—11,000,000 families who are "fighting poverty."

Above them—the "comfortable class" numbering 8,000,000 families.

Fourth—1,585,000 families who are "habitually able to afford luxuries."

On top of the heap—a small class of 800,000 families who are "not only living luxuriously but piling up fortunes."

Other significant figures compiled by Miss Kneeland are:

That only one out of 60 families in the U. S., or a total of 800,000 families, have incomes of more than $5,000; that 283,000 families (1 per cent of the population) have a gross income equal to the total annual earnings of the poorest 11,000,000 families (40 per cent of the population), and that 75 families at the top get more money than 1,200,000 families at the bottom.

Science News

You rightly hear much about the giant telescopes having 100-inch and 200-inch diameter mirrors, and the wonders of the heavens they show and will reveal. But it should not be overlooked, as is sometimes done that excellent and important work is being performed with small equipment.

The discovery of the brightest stellar object ever observed—having a luminosity equal to 400,000,000 suns—which was recently announced by Prof. Fritz Zwicky of California Institute of Technology, is a splendid example of a major discovery made with a tiny telescope.

Using a small 18-inch Schmidt type telescope, Prof. Zwicky has been photographing the sky for over a year at Mt. Palomar on the site of the great future observatory which will house the still-to-be-completed 200-inch diameter telescope.

With this Schmidt astronomical camera, having an extremely wide field of view, Prof. Zwicky has obtained some 600 good photographs of distant nebulae.

Three super-nova stars were found, giving complete confirmation for the previous suspicion of the existence of two types of temporary stars; novae and super-novae.

It was one of the super-novae, known at I. C. 4182, which has turned out to be the brightest stellar object ever discovered, according to calculation by Prof. W. Baade, who is Prof. Zwicky's colleague.

Novae are stars which may have been known for years as well-behaved members of the galaxy that suddenly flare up into flaming brilliance for a short while and then drop back into obscurity. What causes these outbursts of brilliance is one of the mysteries which astronomers ever seek to track down. Prof. Zwicky's work has added additional information that brings nearer the day of clear explanation.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag. Please limit communications to 350 words. The editor reserves the right to shorten all letters in excess of that length.

PEGLER ON DOCTORS

To the Editor: I have just read Pegler's column on doctors. He seems to be an extremist, either awfully right or awfully wrong.

There seems to be a lot of gangster expressions in his article. Doctors "rob" their own families. I wonder how many can think seriously of that?

He suggests that the patients stand for a "frisk" to prove that the doctor got it all.

But the most outrageous is where he points out that patients lie about their income when they ought to be told to decide which they value more, "their money or their lives."

There is another "profession" that uses the same words and no sane person questions the honor of the individual who conceals his valuables when confronted by such a "gent." If the medical fraternity has come to be regarded in such a light, well—think it over.

A lifeguard, a policeman, a fireman and many others are often in a position to save lives. They even risk their own. What would we think of them if they were permitted to "frisk" their patients afterwards and take everything the poor victims possessed?

D. L. PATCH.

WHO IN 1940?

To the Editor: I have taken some small part, as a newspaperman, in every campaign for the presidency since 1880. I have had a chance to study the popular psychology re politics and the sentiments that have motivated the enfranchised in their voting. Whatever my qualifications, if any, to correctly diagnose popular or partisan political sentiment of the present period, here are some conclusions as to existing and future conditions; and, probably, I ought to beg your pardon for presenting them.

At present and there seems no doubt but a similar condition will prevail two years hence, both Republicans and Democrats are in great doubt as to their nominee in 1940.

Roosevelt for a third term? Everywhere I meet Roosevelt supporters who declare that they would not vote for St. Peter himself, for a third consecutive term as President: I predict that within 15 months such sentiment will come to the surface emphatic and virile. With this anti-third term sentiment evident and strong and combined with the growing ugliness of elements in the Democratic party toward Roosevelt and measures he has put over, or attempted, it will be crass stupidity for Roosevelt's party to give the opposition, now without any important distinctive doctrine of its own, a real live issue in the third term proposition. Moreover, in any consideration of 1940 possibilities it must be remembered that, while there was a so-called "Hoover depression" there will have been a Roosevelt "recession." As a rule, the folks are mostly motivated by what they personally feel.

Counting Roosevelt out, who?

To date—and the future promises little—the Republican party is as badly off for a real, attractive leader as is the Democratic. As did the old Whig party, it is becoming moribund through lack of personal principles. Its restoration to its natural vigor and influence depends upon its re-baptism in the principles of Lincoln and "Fighting Bob" La Follette, and it is certain that the intelligent element of the party, men who consider the country rather than the spoils first, are thinking this.

In 1936, the Republican managers picked a practically unknown from the cornstalks and tried to pose him to suit both the man with the hoe and the man with the coupon-clipper. The people righly appraised the cowardice and hypocrisy and their rebuke was certainly fierce. If the Republican party repeats in 1940, the people will repeat. Given a leader whose character and principles are known by his courageous devotion to the welfare of the country, and genuine democratic principles as platform planks, the Republican party will have at least an even show to win in 1940—

DALE CARNEGIE'S Philosophy

Day —By— Day

Would you like to get into radio?

Well, let me tell you about a boy who was singing in a church choir in Cleveland. He wanted to get into radio—so did about a million others. He got in. The others didn't.

This boy's name was Vick Knight. His mother had been a calliope player on a showboat on the Ohio river. She had to wear gloves to keep the steam from scalding her hands. She used some of the money she earned for music lessons for Vick, and finally he got a job singing in the choir. And there he was when he decided to crash radio.

His first step was a wise one. He said to himself, "I can't just walk in and ask for a job and come out with it buttoned in my pocket. I must get ready for radio. I must prepare myself. Then I'll batter the doors." So he got a job on a small station.

He knew no one in radio; he had no letters of introduction. It took him a year, for he had determined to learn the business from the ground up. He announced shows, sang, played drums, directed, wrote commercial announcements, and acted. He played a Pilgrim Father and a Swedish sailor on the same day. In the part, the Swedish sailor fell overboard and was drowned. After the show the director told Vick he hoped the drowning was permanent.

But Vick didn't care. His eye was fixed on the top.

After a year's experience he came to New York. He was offered a job. But he found that New York and a small station were vastly different. New York drew the best, the very cream. He felt that he did not know enough about radio, so he passed up the offer and returned to his small station for further study.

Next year he came back, made a tour of the offices, was offered a job. Again he decided he didn't know enough to compete with the New York boys—back home he went.

He came to New York the fourth time to study radio needs.

The fourth time he felt prepared and this time he accepted a job. He shot upward like an express elevator. He was now backed by experience.

In no time at all he was directing the Kate Smith program.

He did so well that he was engaged by Phillips Lord to do his Gang Busters program.

Eddie Cantor needed a man to direct his show. The job came to Vick.

He is now a top director. His banker calls him "Sir."

How old do you suppose he is? Twenty-nine!

He made a success because he fitted himself for success. He learned the business from top to bottom. When he was ready for the big job, he asked for it and got it. You can do exactly the same. Look around you and don't hesitate to begin in a humble way. Keep your eye on the top and you have a chance to get there.

I'LL TELL YOU....

BY BOB BURNS

Life is mostly like a game of put and take, only some fellas will take without askin' questions but will freeze up when it comes to puttin'.

Grandpa Snazzy, though, isn't one of that kind, he always believed in tit-for-tat.

I remember one time he went into the bank at Van Buren to borrow two hundred dollars to make a deal he had his heart set on. When the banker asked him what security he had, grandpa said, "Two hundred horses." The banker lent him the money.

Later on grandpa came back with a big roll of bills and peeled off two hundred dollars and the interest and paid it to the man and started to put the rest back in his pocket. The banker said, "Why don't you let us keep the rest of the money for you?" Grandpa looked him right in the eye and said, "How many horses you got?"
